OLD COUNTRY SOCCER STRIKE AVERTED

LONDON (AP)—England's big league soccer players and chiefs today found terms for a soccer peace—and the players called off their strike fixed for Saturday.

John Hare, minister of labor, did not explain terms of the agreement. Now English League soccer will go on as usual on Saturday.

JOBLESS TOTAL JUMPS

OTTAWA (CP)—Unemployment in Canada shot to 528,000 at mid-December, a jump of 99,000 from the mid-November total, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported today.

As 1960 drew to a close, the ranks of the jobless were 122,000 higher than at December, 1959.

The year-end figure for 1960—a postwar record for the month—represents 8.2 per cent of Canada's labor force of 6,430,000 workers. This compares with 6.5 per cent a year earlier and 7.6 per cent in December, 1958.

Employment dropped by 127,000 between November and December as winter weather reduced outdoor activity—a decline the report described as greater than average, partly because of a sharp fall of work in agriculture. Construction and manufacturing also experienced greater-than-seasonal employment declines.

HIGHER
The official unemployment figure was 61,000 higher than the previous postwar December record of 467,000, set in 1958.

Employment declined in all regions from November to December. But on a year-to-year basis, the level of employment was higher at the end of 1960 than in December, 1959, in all regions except British Columbia which remained virtually unchanged.

The number of people at work in mid-December was 77,000 higher than a year earlier, a smaller margin than that of earlier months. Most of the workers released during the month were men, while employment of women increased slightly.

In the Pacific area heavy reductions in construction, logging and sawmilling, all seasonal industries, accounted for a jump in unemployment to 63,000 at mid-December, compared with 57,000 in November, 1959. The decline was entirely in non-farm industries. Unemployment amounted to 10.9 per cent of the Pacific area's labor force. A year earlier it was 6.6 per cent.

MINOT, N.D. (AP)—Forty-eight freight cars loaded with lumber, plywood and poles jumped the Great Northern tracks early today, blocking the main line to the west coast.

Student Boycott

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (UPI)—Students boycotted classes at the University of Haiti today in continued defiance of the government of president Francois Duvalier.

TORONTO LAWYER CHARGES

Driving Schools 'Fleece' Pupils

TORONTO (CP)—Automobile driving students here are being fleeced of millions of dollars a year by some driving schools, a lawyer charges.

George Vano, solicitor for a group of driving schools, made the statement Tuesday before the metro council's executive committee in asking for a by-law setting their rates.

He said the practices of some schools include:

1. Selling the answers to government examinations for fees up to $50.
2. Arranging for the "right" government examiner on driving tests for as much as $100.
3. Arranging for "easier" driving tests out of town, for charges of between $10 and $20.
4. Advertising low prices to attract customers and then jacking up the price once a student gets used to a particular car.

Murder Charge Laid In Quebec Shack Fire

(Times News Services)

SWEETSBURG, Que.—The Quebec Attorney-General's Department today charged unemployed laborer Abel Vosburgh with murdering his wife and 11 of their 15 children.

Vosburgh, 63, was remanded in police custody until preliminary hearing next Tuesday.

A coroner's jury spent only nine minutes Tuesday night finding Vosburgh criminally responsible for the death of his 43-year-old wife Marjorie when fire destroyed their one-room shack at Noyan, Que., on the Quebec-Vermont border, Dec. 19.

A crowd of nearly 300 jammed the tiny courtroom at Bedford, Que., for the reopened inquest. An earlier coroner's inquiry without a jury ruled the deaths were accidental.

Vosburgh testified for 40 minutes at Tuesday's hearing. Standing arms akimbo, his back to the jury in the improvised courtroom, he answered questions by crown prosecutor Claude Noisieux in a defiant, almost belligerent tone.

He categorically denied testimony given by six earlier witnesses, including his son Irving, 18, and unhesitatingly replied "no sir, no sir" to Noisieux's suggestions that he hit his wife and killed her during a domestic quarrel.

$10,000,000 richer today is heiress Fredricka (Bobo) Sigrist. Daughter of late Frederick Sigrist, British aviation pioneer, she inherited fortune on 21st birthday, Tuesday, in London. (AP Wirephoto.)

Insists Wife Alive After Fire Start

He insisted his wife was alive after the fire started Dec. 29 in the Vosburgh's tiny shack at Noyan, Que., 35 miles south of Montreal.

Two provincial pathologists testified Mrs. Vosburgh was dead before the fire, that unlike the children who died that night, she was not asphyxiated.

In cases of multiple violent deaths, a coroner's jury needs only to find reasonable suspicion of criminal negligence in one to hold a person criminally responsible for all.

Vosburgh sat calm and impassive throughout most of the hearing, mumbling occasionally to himself. But his voice was strong and clear when he was called to explain how his wife and children died.

He said he had gone to bed late that night without undressing. He was awakened about 2 a.m. and saw flames shooting up from the floor around an oil stove.

He said he called to his wife, who awoke, and then he ran to a pump 25 feet away to try to get some water, leaving the door ajar.

"My wife didn't come out but she hollered at Richard (one of the dead Vosburgh children)," he said.

Earlier five witnesses, including two of her sisters-in-law, testified that Vosburgh told them after the fire that Mrs. Vosburgh followed him out of the shanty and then turned back.

At first Vosburgh said he was at the pump for about five minutes—he said he couldn't get any water out of it—then under pressure from Mr. Noisieux he reduced the time to about a minute.

He said he tried to pry off a tin sheet nailed over a broken window in the bedroom where nine children slept. But the heat drove him back.

After that, he said, "There was nothing else to do."

"So you just stayed and watched it burn?" asked Mr. Noisieux.

"What else could I do?" replied Vosburgh.

"I hollered 'fire'—I didn't go to the neighbors."

Asked why he didn't go to the neighbors, he said:

Red China Troops Reported in Burma

BANGKOK, Thailand, (UPI)—Informed Thai sources said today that Chinese Communist troops had entered northern Burma, with the apparent consent of Burmese authorities and penetrated to within 10 miles of the Thailand border before withdrawing.

The sources said the bulk of the Red Chinese force consisted of two regiments, was believed to have returned to the Chinese side of the border after travelling 250 miles across Burma.

FOES FLEE

Rebels Advance In Laos

By ROY ESSOYAN

THA THOM, Laos (AP)—Pro-Communist rebels bore down on two key government positions in south central Laos today, and the outnumbered defenders prepared to take to the jungle for guerrilla operations.

"The Reds are coming—there is no question about it," said Maj. Phong Kave, commander of the undersized battalion at Tha Thom.

"We are reverting back to guerrilla warfare," said Col. Kham Khong at Paksane.

A reliable government source said one of the Laotian air force's four newly-delivered U.S. planes was shot down Tuesday north of Vang Vieng front. Laotian pilots have been flying the T-6—the old Harvard trainer—fighters—after arming them with five-inch rockets and .30-calibre machine-guns. The fate of the pilot was not known.

Swarming through the jungles, two rebel columns struck out across the narrow waist of this tiny Southeast Asian Buddhist kingdom.

LITTLE AMMUNITION

The double-barrelled attack scattered government forces massing at Paksane, 90 miles northeast of Vientiane, and at this forward outpost 40 miles to the north. The rebel advance spelled doom, at least for the present, to government plans to mount an attack from Paksane and Tha Thom on the rebel-held Plain of Jars and Xieng Khouang province to the north and northeast.

The right-wing government today flew supplies to hill tribesmen in central Laos in a bid to enlist their support against the leftist forces.

An Australian journalist who flew deep into mountain territory controlled by strong leftist forces reported that right-wing emissaries are asking Meo tribesmen to combat the leftist buildup in the east-central province of Xieng Khouang. The reporter said the Meo seemed reluctant to join the fight.

Some of the tribesmen had only three or four cartridges for their rifles and were well aware of leftist strength on and around the strategic Plain of Jars.

Inquest, Autopsy Ordered in Death

MOSSBANK, Sask. (CP)—Coroner Dr. J. M. Hourigan of Moose Jaw has ordered an autopsy and inquest into the death of Matthew Stanley Demich, 40, of Wood Mountain, Sask., who was found dead Tuesday in the office of Dr. Douglas Jamieson here.

RCMP here were told of the death of Demich early Tuesday by rancher Roy Pearson, 45, of Fir Mountain, Sask., who had accompanied Demich to Dr. Jamieson's office Monday.

When he was discovered, there was a wound near the heart in Demich's chest, Dr. Hourigan Tuesday said it could have been made in an attempt to massage the heart.

Dr. Jamieson was discovered in one of two rooms used as living quarters adjoining his office, in what was reported as "a deep sleep." He was taken to hospital where officials refuse to comment on his condition.

RCMP Const. J. D. Osborne of the Mossbank detachment today said in an interview that Demich had been complaining of a sore neck and Pearson accompanied him to Dr. Jamieson's office where treatment was continued through most of the day and evening.

He said Pearson made several trips to the hospital for equipment, which on the last trip included a mouth suction tube.

Const. Osborne says Pearson, who has returned to his Fir Mountain ranch, was given sleeping tablets by Dr. Jamieson and retired about 1 a.m.

Pearson is reported to have awakened to find Demich lying under a sheet dead in the office treatment room and Dr. Jamieson in a "deep sleep" in another room.

SUMMIT TALKS ON SALMON PROPOSED

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP)—A United States-Canada fisheries summit conference to work out a program for restoring depleted west coast salmon runs was proposed today by Alaska Governor William A. Egan.

Egan invited the governors of Washington, Oregon and California, the Canadian minister of fisheries, the U.S. secretary of the interior and leading fisheries biologists of both countries to meet here Feb. 15-17.

The Alaska governor said there was an urgent need for co-ordinating efforts being made to restore the once abundant salmon runs.

COLUMBIA POWER COST

B.C. Insists On Guarantee

Premier W. A. C. Bennett has notified Finance Minister Donald Fleming that a guarantee of the federal government's cost figure of 3.77 mills for Columbia downstream power at Vancouver will be required before the B.C. government can add its guarantee to any financial arrangements for the development.

The premier today made public a letter sent to Mr. Fleming over the weekend.

He also announced the finance minister had indicated he will come to Victoria for discussions at the conclusion of the budget debate in the House of Commons.

"IN WRITING"

In a press statement, the premier added: "The moment the federal government guarantees this cost figure in writing, British Columbia will proceed immediately with arrangements to build the necessary dams through the agency of the British Columbia Power Commission."

Mr. Bennett said his government is "very pleased" a treaty for the development of the Columbia river had been signed. He foresees no delay in completion of arrangements in view of the fact that federal ministers have stated repeatedly downstream benefit power can be delivered to the Vancouver area at a cost of 3.77 mills.

DOUBTS

In his letter to Mr. Fleming, however, the premier voiced his serious doubts about the federal cost figure.

He said: "I must tell you that British Columbia entertains serious doubts that power returned from the United States as the Canadian share of downstream benefits can, in fact, be delivered to the Vancouver area at the cost of 3.77 mills."

PRAYER FOR TODAY

When the kings of earth set themselves against Thee, keep Thy people from interperate anger and grant us the will to be faithful in prayer. Grant to all who love Thee, O Lord, the spirit of humility wherein we shall faithfully repent of our own sins even as we pray earnestly that others may see and feel their need of Thee. Earnestly we pray. Amen.

of 3.77 mills which has been quoted so often by your colleagues.

"For that reason, the British Columbia Energy Board has been asked to investigate this question in association with independent engineering counsel of international repute, and an interim report will be received by March 1.

FIRM, ACCURATE

"If the cost of 3.77 mills quoted so frequently by the Hon. E. D. Fulton is, in fact, accurate, then of course, no difficulty in financing the project should present itself.

"Until the cost figure is verified through study by the British Columbia Energy Board, however, the government of British Columbia would of course require the guarantee of the Canadian government that the cost is firm and accurate before it would add its own guarantee to any financial arrangements for the development."

Never Quit Conference Table

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower said today that the greatest problem facing President-Elect John F. Kennedy and the American people is the continued aggressiveness of communism backed by a huge H-bomb arsenal.

The president's statement was made at his farewell press conference during which he took a nostalgic look backward over eight years of turbulent history.

He said his administration had been able to block the spread of communism and he was glad for this. But he said he was saddened by the failure of the world to move forward to the point where peace and justice were really in sight.

The president, who spent 40 years as a military leader before becoming president, urged the country to remain alert and strong but warned again that it must not let its mind become dominated by a military complex.

FAREWELL

His remarks were an elaboration of his words Tuesday night in his farewell address to the people.

He told the 305 reporters who jammed his final press conference that he was concerned when every magazine he picked up had pictures of the Titan and Atlas missiles and articles on solid rocket fuel.

He said it appears that this weapon was becoming an insidious influence on the mind and people might drift into the belief that these things constituted the main American purpose in life.

The president said these items of military might must be considered in their proper perspective—as mechanisms only to protect the basic ideals and values of the American people.

AMENDMENT

Eisenhower also advocated a constitutional amendment to allow a new chief executive to take office sooner after his election and at least 80 days before Congress meets.

He contemplates considerable travel, he emphasized, including a visit to Japan. His planned 1960 state visit to Japan was cancelled because of violent demonstrations against the new Japanese-American defence treaty.

'CERTAIN AGONY'

In his TV address Tuesday night Eisenhower urged his successor never to abandon the conference table for the "certain agony of the battlefield."

At the same time he warned the nation to be ever vigilant against allowing a military-scientific industrial elite to exert "unwarranted influence" over the government during the struggle with Communism.

He noted that an "immense" military establishment and arms industry have grown up in the United States since the Second World War. While these are imperative to the nation's defence, he said, the country must be alert to their "grave implications" so that liberty is not destroyed in the name of security.

Lumumba Brutally Beaten, Moved to Another Prison

ELISABETHVILLE (AP)—

The Katanga government today officially confirmed that deposed Congo premier Patrice Lumumba is now imprisoned in Katanga. He was brought there, said an official communiqué, at the request of Congolese President Kasavubu.

Officials of the government-owned Belgian air line Sabena had reported earlier that Lumumba was flown to Elisabethville, capital of Katanga, Tuesday under close guard and in handcuffs. He had been held previously at the military camp of Thysville, 80 miles southwest of Leopoldville, the Congo capital.

Elisabethville is the seat of government of one of Lumumba's arch enemies, provincial President Moïse Tshombe who defied Lumumba's authority as premier and declared his province independent of the Leopoldville government.

Swedish UN troops on guard at Elisabethville airport when Lumumba arrived said he and two other prisoners with him got "a terrific beating" from Katanga police at the airport.

"It was sickening," one of the soldiers said.

"Lumumba and the other two were dragged off the plane. They were trussed with ropes and tied together. They had little freedom of movement."

"Then the gendarmes—African and whites—surrounded them and the Africans assaulted them over a longish period."

Lumumba and the other two fell to the ground where they were clubbed, hit in the face with rifle butts, and kicked and pummeled.

"The gendarmes let them lie for a while and then resumed their beating."

"I had to turn away," said an airport official. "It was too much for me to watch."

Lumumba and his companions groaned a lot while the assault was taking place but did not protest or ask for mercy. The deposed premier was reported severely bruised. After the beating up, Lumumba and the other two prisoners were thrown into a jeep, pushed down to the floor and sat on by four hefty gendarmes so that they could not be seen.

CALGARY—A one-hour struggle between a 58-year-old woman and an unknown attacker ended abruptly when the woman began singing hymns, Supreme Court was told here Monday. "He just went limp," the woman said.

The woman, testifying in the case against Nelson Wolf Leg, of Gleichen, Alta., said she sang "What a Friend We Have in Jesus," as her attacker held her to the floor at her home in Gleichen.

Wolf Leg, 19, was charged with attempted rape. He was sentenced to two years less one day by Mr. Justice Harold Riley on a reduced charge of assault.

The woman said she went to bed Nov. 22 shortly after her husband-left for night shift work at a nearby hospital. She was awakened about 5 a.m. by someone in the house.

The woman said the man rushed at her and pushed her onto the bedroom floor.

A struggle which lasted at least one hour ensued until at last the woman's strength began to fail. She sang the hymn.

"He went limp," she said, and she fled to a neighbor's house.

The committee for non-violent action said today the action is "passive resistance" to show opposition to the base.

NEW DELHI—India's "non-violence" ahimsa party today threatened that some of its leaders would fast from Saturday until Thursday unless the government calls off a tiger hunt Queen Elizabeth is scheduled to attend.

Telegrams from the party to Prime Minister Nehru, British high commissioner, Sir Paul Gore-Booth, and other officials said the fast would begin Saturday, when the Queen starts her Indian tour, unless the hunt were dropped.

The Ahimsa party campaigns against animal slaughter and cruel sports.

Vancouver Firm Lowest Bidder On Ferry Engines

A total of 14 bids by nine firms have been made to build engines for the B.C. government's new ferry.

Bids from Britain, Germany, the U.S. and Canada were opened Monday afternoon by B.C. Toll Authority secretary, Dr. J. V. Fisher.

There were nine bids and five alternates, said Dr. Fisher.

Lowest bid was $325,000 from Purkis Railway and Power Engineering Co., Vancouver. Highest bid was $623,850 by Fairbanks-Morse Ltd.

HOLLYWOOD—Dick Powell has agreed to a $2,500,000 property settlement with June Allyson and she has filed suit for divorce, her lawyer said Tuesday. The couple announced their separation earlier this month, after 15 years of marriage.

Pickersgill Reaches Into Bag of Tricks

(From Times News Service)

OTTAWA — J. W. Pickersgill (L-Bonavista-Twilligate) stunned government benches Tuesday with an old oratorical trick.

Mr. Pickersgill said Finance Minister Fleming told a Brantford, Ont., meeting Monday night that there is no national emergency in unemployment. He then read a document stating that unemployment is a stark ugly fact; that men were deserting their families so their wives and children could get relief.

Mid-way through the reading, Mr. Fleming said, "Why can you not tell the truth?"

Liberal Platform 'Like Fairy Tale'

Revenue Minister Nowlan says even Grimm's fairy tales cannot compare with the election platform drafted here last week at the National Liberal Rally.

He said the Liberal promises amounted to the same old "hackneyed story"—reduced taxes and increased expenditures.

"This has been the solution used by every opposition party throughout the years, including our own, and it has never worked yet."

Mr. Nowlan and other government members used the debate on the Dec. 20 baby budget to challenge and criticize decisions taken at the Liberal rally. They took advantage of the traditionally relaxed rules of the debate permitting wide digression from the business under discussion.

Winch Lashes U.S.-Owned Pipeline

CCF MP Harold Winch accused a government supporter of "unmitigated gall" in proposing that Parliament incorporate a pipeline company which would be controlled by Americans.

He made the accusation in the Commons during debate on a private member's bill for the incorporation of Aurora Pipe Line Company. The company proposes to transport liquid petroleum products, produced by the processing of natural gas, from southwestern Alberta to the international boundary.

The MP for Vancouver East said the bill was being sponsored by Eldon Woollams (PC-Bow River) although the federal government wanted Canada's resources to be exploited by companies under Canadian control.

Finally, with a flourish, Mr. Pickersgill tossed the document on his desk and said he had been reading word for word a 1955 speech given by Mr. Fleming in the Commons when the Liberals were in power.

Liberals roared with glee. Conservative MPs didn't say a word and Mr. Pickersgill continued his speech to a hushed House.

Chesley W. Carter (L-Burn-Burgeo) startled Conservative members by calling for another royal commission inquiry.

Mr. Carter said a royal commission is needed to study the whole financial structure of the country and find out what is wrong with it.

Edwin W. Brunson (PC-Medicine Hat) asked whether Mr. Carter really wanted another royal commission, after the Liberal party's criticism of the Diefenbaker government for setting up too many.

"Yes," said Mr. Carter. "This is a subject on which there should be one. There are just two reasons for setting up royal commissions—to postpone action, and to get information."

The government, he said, is "too prone to use royal commissions for the first purpose."

Can't Stop Red China?

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Adlai E. Stevenson said today that admission of Red China to the United Nations "may be impossible to prevent" and amounts to a "probability" at some future date.

The twice-defeated Democratic presidential candidate made the statement in testifying before senators considering his nomination to head the U.S. delegation to the United Nations in the Kennedy administration.

He said it would be "highly optimistic" to expect Communist China to reform if allowed into the UN.

But he added: "On the other hand, it may be impossible to prevent."

Halt on Borrowing Abroad, Fleming's Tax Change Aim

NEW YORK (CP)—Finance Minister Fleming of Canada indicated today he was aiming at foreign bond borrowings by Canadians—not foreign investment in Canadian industry—in his controversial changes in the withholding tax.

He told a Canadian Club luncheon that the government wanted to withdraw a tax concession which encouraged Canadians to borrow in New York and other foreign money markets.

But there was "no foundation whatever" for the view that his Dec. 20 budget tax changes sought to impede foreign capital investment in Canadian business and industry. "There is no truth whatever in the view that these changes reflect an antagonism towards foreign capital," he said.

Foreign investment in Canada's industry and resources had brought great benefits. "We have every reason for and every intention of continuing to maintain a climate that makes such capital investment thoroughly welcome in Canada."

But at the same time, he said, Canada's economy does not need the same large volume of foreign capital that has flowed in during recent years.

STAINLESS STEEL DESIGNS WIN AWARDS IN WORLD-WIDE COMPETITION

Canada's National Industrial Design Council sponsors international competition in stainless steel design

Canadian industrial designers and the Canadian public are getting an exciting look at some striking examples of stainless steel design. They are the award-winning designs in the exhibition now touring Canada.

Stainless steel has a rich, silvery lustre, plus strength, corrosion and heat resistant qualities that make it an ideal material for industrial designers. It can be fashioned into gracious flatware and holloware for the dining table, practical, easy-to-clean pots and pans, sinks and kitchen utensils, architectural components for the exterior of modern buildings, bright, beautiful hardware and ornamental accessories for the interior.

Nickel in stainless steel helps strengthen it, increases its resistance to heat and corrosion, makes it easier to shape and fabricate.

Canada is the world's largest producer of nickel. And Inco, through world-wide sales, market development and service operations, has developed world markets for Inco nickel.

In the Open

NOW THAT THE COLUMBIA River treaty has been signed by the governments of Canada and the United States, the government of British Columbia intends to find out what it actually means. Seldom has the horse ever been placed so far behind the cart.

But Mr. Bennett's Energy Board, headed by Dr. Gordon Shrum, will go ahead nevertheless to study the effect of a treaty which he already has approved. He wishes, above all, to learn what Columbia downstream power will cost the consumers of the Vancouver metropolitan area, and it is quite clear that he thinks this cost will be higher than the 3.77 mills estimated by the Canadian government. It is equally clear that he expects Peace River power to cost far less than the Canadian government believes.

These are indeed vital questions, deserving the fullest inquiry and we hope that the Energy Board will get to the bottom of them without delay. They are so vital that they should be investigated in public and not hidden, like so much of the provincial government's business, in a secret inquiry.

The Energy Board has wisely decided to employ two neutral engineering firms which will make their own estimates of electrical costs on the Columbia and the Peace. But there can be no public confidence in these findings, or in any other aspect of the inquiry, unless expert witnesses are questioned publicly.

For example, when it is suggested that the Canadian Government has under-estimated the cost of Columbia power the Government should have the fullest opportunity to make a public answer.

Mr. Fulton, who has used the figure of 3.77 mills, should be called as a witness and with him experts like General McNaughton, Canadian chairman of the International Joint Commission, which largely devised the whole Columbia scheme. The Energy Board has a perfect right to cross-examine such witnesses.

On the other hand, those who regard the Peace River scheme as improvident and unnecessary (including the Canadian Government) should have the chance to cross-examine the promoters of this scheme. What would Peace River power actually cost? Where would it be sold when British Columbia cannot even use, for many years to come, the first downstream benefits of the Columbia? And how should the Columbia scheme be financed as between the national and provincial governments?

These are legitimate questions deserving the most intensive and impartial study. In making that study the Energy Board should hear any responsible witness who cares to testify and should subpoena anyone who has knowledge to contribute.

If, instead, the Energy Board makes a secret study, refuses to hear important witnesses and files a report without publishing all the relevant evidence, then it will not receive or deserve the confidence of the public.

The members of the Energy Board are all distinguished citizens, appointed by the provincial government. They have a responsibility to the government but they also have a responsibility to the public. They can fulfill it only by a public inquiry and it is unthinkable that they should proceed in any other fashion.

Meanwhile the Columbia treaty has been signed. It now goes to the Canadian Parliament and the United States Senate for ratification and already it has proved once again that the two neighboring nations of North America can work out their joint problems by friendly negotiation.

On the long road they have travelled together this treaty is another monument to a unique friendship which will be needed more than ever in the difficult days ahead.

No Education Is Free

MOST CANADIANS WILL endorse the principle implicit in the Liberal Party program to provide $40,000,000 in scholarships and financial aid to young people to further their education.

No student should be denied the opportunity to develop his capacities because he comes from a poor family. Merit in the class or the lecture room should be rewarded generously.

Provided a person's talents, improved by education, are applied to development in Canada, scholarships, bursaries and loans in this country are a sound investment from a national point of view.

There is, however, a significant point which should be impressed on all Canadians. No education is "free". It is paid for, in one form or another, by Canadians, particularly in the school system running into university. No one should appreciate that fact more than the bright students who receive help in scholarship and student financial aid.

They assume a responsibility with the assistance they are given. Similarly, there is a responsibility on the part of the public to establish a reasonably clear, if general, idea of what it is paying for when it finances students.

In government schemes now operating the picture is relatively obvious. The National Research Council, for instance, in 1959-60 disbursed $8,586,265, of which 76.7 per cent went for science and engineering research and 23.3 per cent for medical research in grants to university staffs and to post-graduate scholars. That is one form of government assistance to higher education—and a very practical one.

In the provincial field university students are receiving direct assistance, on proof of merit, in part payment of fees. Admittedly these payments merely tend to offset the higher charges the university had to impose when it failed to receive what it sought from the Government for general operations. At the same time, the principle of rewarding merit has been followed.

Any extension of aid to the worthy student is to be applauded. No useful purpose is served, however, by suggestions that education is free. It isn't, never has been and never will be.

Getting Through to Mr. Verwoerd

THE JOHANNESBURG STAR presents an encouraging explanation for its statement that while South Africa will proclaim itself a republic on May 31 it will postpone its celebration of the event for a year.

The Star states that South Africa's white supremacy government fears the "risk of being snubbed by a wholesale refusal of invitations to attend the celebration which would show how few friends this country really has."

The South African government is apparently beginning to appreciate the importance of world public opinion. It seems to be hoping for a more favorable climate in which to officially mark its new status by special events.

That more favorable climate might be created by a further softening of the apartheid philosophy. The Dutch Reformed Church has already pointed the way. It has disavowed the principles of apartheid—causing many of its adher-ents in the government to search their souls on the question.

To the Christian argument against apartheid has been added a more practical one. Mr. Anthony Ferguson, president of the Johannesburg Stock Exchange, who says that recent legislative amendments have left the racial policy unaltered, points out that:

"Economic considerations have often taken second place if racial considerations have been involved, and this cannot be allowed to continue."

His further comment on the attitude of the outside world to South Africa seems to bear out the Johannesburg Star's position.

"The possibility should be borne in mind," he says, "that, far from South Africa being misunderstood overseas, present policy may be very well understood but disliked intensely, because it runs counter to what is acceptable in the free world."

The waiting period for the republic's party is justified.

Good Show, Fine Sleep

THE FINANCIAL POST, commenting on a proposal by a United States air line to show feature-length films to travellers on its jets, says "the idea ought to be strangled in its cradle."

No so. Jet flights, take aircraft so high the passenger is unable to enjoy the scenery. Moreover the true mark of the experienced air traveller seems to be his ability to sleep throughout a flight. What better soporific than a feature-length film?

FILLED THE HUNGRY WITH GOOD IDEAS

By B. A. TOBIN

Accept No Substitute ... Except on Purpose

ACCORDING to the psychologists, and to laymen's observations too, a good many human actions are performed as substitutes.

For something else the person would rather do but can't. Sometimes it's a very simple substitution: you can't tour Italy so you read a book about it instead; you can't take a sports car ride up-island, so you go for a walk instead. But it can become more complicated too. People eat themselves into fat ill-health because they aren't loved; they punish themselves with painful "accidents" as a substitute for the just deserts their feeling of guilt tells them they should receive.

On this basis, it's interesting to speculate on human careers. Are they real, or are they substitutes? Did this man become a great business tycoon because he wanted to, or because he couldn't get the girl of his dreams? Does a girl become a channel swimmer because she likes cold water, or because she was turned down as a movie star?

In Disguise

How many dentists would rather be plumbers, or vice versa? How many scholars really wanted to be men of action, but had to substitute reading for washbuckling?

A group of Indiana experts has been studying dieters' problems and that's a great field for substitutions. Among other solutions, the experts advise: "When the urge to eat swells up, do something in which eating isn't feasible—take a walk, go to a movie, ride a bus, or lay a cement sidewalk."

I don't know much about the dieting business, but I would hazard a guess that those experts are slim enough to take a merely academic interest in dieting. Consider their substitute suggestions, designed to get the victim's mind off eating.

Take a walk. A good brisk walk? On a cold brisk day? And return home with an appetite that could handle double portions of everything on the supper table?

Added Temptation

Go to a movie. Movies today are in reality eating places. You can't get into them without passing a counter loaded with fat-producing foods and drink. Your neighbors in the dark crunch, nibble, chomp and swallow throughout the program—everything from buttered popcorn, peanuts and candies to ice cream and a variety of cold drinks. This is escape for the hungry dieter? And there is always the likelihood that the picture will show at least one eating scene.

Ride a bus. This has a certain amount of logic. It will change the scenery and probably not work up an appetite. But the surroundings cannot be guaranteed. The advertising cards overhead are bound to display at least one luscious chocolate cake or pudding, at least one package of crackers or breakfast food, at least one glowing description of creamy milk or delicious something-or-other. Chances are the starving bus passenger will catch the next bus home and indulge in an orgy of feasting.

Ground Work

Lay a cement sidewalk. It is true that laying a cement sidewalk is not conducive to eating. During the agonizing period of blood, sweat and tears which it demands you forget all about food. But what of the aftermath, when you have dragged the weighted, scuffed clothes from your aching body, scrubbed the corrosive chemical from your sore hands, pried the cement out of your hair and straightened a few almost-permanently crimped muscles?

You will have only one thought: FOOD. Food of all kinds and in unprecedented quantities.

There is one other aspect of this suggestion. What do you do when your front garden, side yards and rear plot are solidly covered with cement sidewalks? When you have paved and repaved every available inch of your property, and your uncontented neighbors run when they see you coming? And you are still hungry?

Obviously, the psychological experts have much further research to do. And now I think of it, how did they come to be psychologists? Did they perhaps take up that profession as a substitute for other careers they were unable to carry out—long-distance walkers, perhaps; movie actors, bus drivers or cement sidewalk contractors?

It makes a nice substitute question.

In the Opinion of Our Correspondents

Promise

Recently, through your column, I drew attention to the difficulty experienced by elderly or infirm travellers in boarding the ferry boats between Tsawwassen and Swartz Bay when it is necessary for them to walk from the toll-gate to the boat's entry.

I wish to thank the anonymous benefactor who brought this letter to the Premier's notice. Still more, I tender my thanks to Mr. Bennett for notifying me that my suggestion would be acted upon as soon as possible and arrangements made to cope with the situation. On Jan. 11, I came by this route from Vancouver and, at the toll-gate, my son-in-law requested permission to drive me to the boat's entry. This was readily granted by a courteous official in uniform.

It is only fair to state that, owing to weather conditions on that day, traffic was unusually light, otherwise it would have been impossible for the official to grant the favor, but I am satisfied that, as soon as possible, arrangements will be made to correct this comparatively slight difficulty. "Rome was not built in a day," and no government can perform miracles, though political promises made by opposing parties would suggest otherwise.

Bottle Drive

The 6th Camosun (Centennial) Boy Scouts and Wolf Cubs wish to express their appreciation for the co-operation of residents in the areas of the Gorge and Burnside, between Harriet and Bay Streets, for making available bottles which were collected on January 14th, 1961.

This drive was declared a complete success and the proceeds realized will be used to further Scout and Cub training programs.

Saw the Light

I notice the Tories and the Tory press are having quite a field day over the announcement that Capt. David Groos at one time took out a membership card in their party, and is now running as a candidate for the Liberals. Why is that an excuse to belittle him? Capt. Groos has seen the light as hundreds more have been doing every day since the Diefenbaker Government came into office.

Capt. Groos has studied the platform of the Liberal party under the leadership of Lester Pearson and has reviewed their past performance while in office and so he has offered to run as the Liberal candidate in the coming Saanich Esquimalt by-election.

Most people, have decided, after all the mistakes, and broken promises, of the present government in Ottawa, that the only way to bring back prosperity to our country is to elect a Liberal government, and to send Capt. Groos to represent us in that government.

The other two parties, CCF and Social Credit should not be even considered as a threat if all Liberals and Liberal-minded people rally around Capt. David Groos in the by-election to be held shortly.

We will need representation from here, as the next government in Ottawa will be Liberal.

'What Shall It Profit ...'

A sober consideration of the scandal which has been exposed in connection with our Provincial Welfare Department brings again to mind the fundamental question: What shall it profit us to have roads, bridges, ferry boats and mortgage burning celebrations, or even the whole world, if we lose our own soul?

Just another nail started in the Social Credit coffin.

Encouraging

It was encouraging to read in the daily press, in so short a period as a weekend, four references of a humane nature concerning creatures other than man:

The inclusion of "kindness to animals" in "Duty towards my neighbor" in the new catechism to come before the Church of England leaders this month. Brian Charlton concerned about his dog lost in the waters of Bowker Creek. (How did it get in Brian?)

SPCA Inspector William Bell of Burnaby rescuing a Labrador from a deep gravel pit.

Cal Smith, who had needlessly killed a wolf eel, feeling bothered about it, having the moral courage to make public admission of this.

WASHINGTON:

Wait And See

By JOSEPH ALSOP

IN his farewell message to the Congress, President Eisenhower declared that he and his administration had "carried America to unprecedented heights." Since the President is neither a fool nor a hypocrite, this summary of the present national situation is at first somewhat bewildering. After all, unemployment has now reached a level unprecedented in the last twenty years. The dollar, whose soundness has so preoccupied the President, has reached a low on the world markets unprecedented for thirty years.

According to the suppressed soundings taken by the President's own subordinates, the standing of the United States abroad has also reached a low unprecedented in recent history.

Critical Situations

Add Laos, Cuba, The Congo, Berlin and a few other critical situations, which form an unprecedented pattern of arrogant Soviet challenges on every front to U.S. and Western interests.

In these unhappy circumstances, what did the President mean?

The answer, or perhaps a considerable part of the answer seems to be indirectly provided by the story of the cook-out. It has taken almost a year to seep outwards, from the closed administration inner group into semi-general circulation in Washington. But it is an authentic and remarkable story, which still casts much light.

The time, then, was the tense evening after the great explosion of the Summit meeting in Paris. Long previously, a private dinner for the President had been scheduled at the American Embassy on the Avenue d'Orleans and now, with the Strategic Air Command alerted and Khrushchev's bellows of rage ringing in every ear, the invited high officials somewhat haggardly assembled in accordance with the unchanged schedule.

But the President, although his policy lay in ruins all around him, was very far from haggard. On entering, as though to prove his easy normalcy he genially suggested to the Ambassador and Mrs. Houghton that it would be nice if he cooked steaks for the whole dinner party with his own hands.

Since French chefs do not admire deep freezers, the embassy contained no steaks to cook. But the vast machine of the Eisenhower staff went into rapid action.

Rush Order

A PX officer was found. A PX was opened. Steaks were provided. The President cooked them. There was only a single hitch. One lady in the company found that the steaks were somewhat too strongly seasoned with political disaster, thus she displeased the President by her poor appetite for his culinary handiwork.

At first glance, there is something downright surrealist in this general picture of the President of the United States passing the tensest single evening of his eight years in office cooking steaks for his chief subordinates. But in fact, this episode was no more than an exaggeration of many other episodes of the Eisenhower years.

President Eisenhower, it is plain, is one of those men who prefer to deal with difficult problems and dangerous situations by displaying massive unconcern, and meanwhile hoping that time will remove the difficulties and denature the dangers. This hope, of course, is sometimes justified.

It was justified when the Summit collapsed. The ensuing Soviet move at Berlin, which the high American officials thought entirely possible and the British positively expected, was never made after all.

Sound Tactic

It former days even in the formative years of Dwight D. Eisenhower—the tactic of refusing to be greatly stirred by events was also a sound conservative tactic. "Wait and see, and look as though it did not matter meanwhile" was far from a foolish watchword when the tempo of history was slower, and history's tendencies were less catastrophic.

But this watchword ceased to be safely applicable in the years between the first and second world wars. Truly conservative leaders—men who truly wished to conserve the good things of the existing order with a minimum of change—were forced to adopt a different style of action.

Confronted by forces of change too strong to be wholly resisted, the truly conservative leaders had to become more agile. They had to make small changes in order to avoid great changes. They had to recommend small sacrifices in order to avoid great losses.

It was no longer prudent, no longer conservative, to stand pat.

This is the reason, of course, why Winston Churchill will be remembered as the great conservative of the Twentieth Century, whereas Stanley Baldwin and Neville Chamberlain, the alleged conservatives who led Britain to disaster, will never again be called conservative in the honorable sense of the word.

This is the reason, too, why the creed of American conservatism badly needs re-thinking at the end of the Eisenhower years and not by Senator Goldwater either.

What If Jack Had Lost!

WASHINGTON (UPI) — I have a sneaking suspicion it creeps up at twilight when the lamps are low that the fashion industry has just sold us a bill of goods.

The thing that I have been ogling with the old fish-eye is the recently published list of the world's 12 best-dressed women of 1960.

The winners, we are told, were picked by 2,000 fashion experts and observers who participated in an international poll conducted by the New York Couture group.

It was, we also are told, the collective judgment of those polled that the best-dressed list should be headed by Mrs. John F. Kennedy, wife of the U.S. president-elect.

Now I am not suggesting that the poll was rigged. I credit the New York Couture group with being more ethical than certain television quiz show producers.

Nor am I suggesting that Mrs. Kennedy didn't deserve the honor. I might have voted for her myself if I had been consulted in the matter.

Nevertheless, there are certain factors involved which make me wonder whether the 1960 list was chosen in the spirit of impartial, unbiased, scientific accuracy.

West

For one thing, Mrs. Kennedy, who has patronized the best designers for years, had never been on the list before. What additions did she suddenly make to her wardrobe to place her at the top of the heap?

For another thing, during much of 1960 Mrs. Kennedy was in what the gossip columnists describe as an "interesting condition" and rarely appeared in public.

That being the case, who did those 2,000 fashion experts, particularly the ones in other countries, get a line on her clothing? And were maternity dresses considered in the competition?

When one ponders these questions for a moment, one is prompted to raise still more inquiries, which the Couture group will perhaps be kind enough to answer.

Suppose that Mrs. Kennedy's husband had lost the presidential election, would she still have been the best-dressed woman? Or would that distinction have gone to Pat Nixon?

I do not like to think that the fashion world would be influenced by the possibility that Mrs. Kennedy's name might have a certain publicity value. So I hope someone will do something to erase my nagging doubts.

I would like to be reassured that the fashion world is still a bastion of integrity, despite the invention of fashions.

HOME GARDEN

Fence, Hedge Can 'Filter' Wind

The "snake-fences" of Eastern Canada did a pretty good job of breaking the force of winter winds and thus preventing the drifting of snow across highways.

I don't know whether they are still used, but I recalled recently while thinking about wind-breaks for gardens here.

Solid walls or fences do not accomplish the same purpose for they create a spot of complete stillness where cold air could accumulate in winter

KEEPS AIR MOVING

Filtering of wind through a permeable barrier is much to be preferred, for it breaks up a "solid" gust of wind into tiny pieces, some of which will go through the barrier and keep the air in movement on the other side.

In our gardens we can have screens of living plants which are practically immune to winds, and they will protect others which are hardy enough except for a susceptibility to wind damage, perhaps only while young.

Recently, there have been a few wattle fences erected on properties, primarily for the purpose of sheltering young hedge material which will in turn form a more dense wind-break.

Where space allows, and the need exists, successive plantings of further shrub material can be made until the inner portion of the garden is reached. Here, the climate can be very different from what it was previous to the outer shelter plantings being made.

This scheme can be worked out on almost any sizeable lot, and even a single city-size lot can be much improved for garden purposes by the use of a wind-filtering, fence and hedge.

SYNOPSIS—High pressure has built over most of the province in the past 24 hours and this has blocked the eastward movement of the Pacific storms. Hence clearing has set in over most of the interior and over the south coastal areas. Only the north coast remains cloudy and a few showers have occurred from the trailing edge of the storms as they move northward into Alaska. Elsewhere with the clearing skies cooler weather can be expected and some fog patches will form in low areas overnight.

Alberta Seat

Target Of New Party

MEDICINE HAT (CP) —

The byelection in the provincial constituency of Medicine Hat Thursday has taken on special significance because the seat is the first in provincial politics to be contested by a New Party candidate.

Liberal, Social Credit and Progressive Conservative candidates also were nominated for the seat left vacant by the death of Mrs. Elizabeth Gladys Robinson, Social Credit member of the legislature for Medicine Hat since 1953.

The candidates: Milt Reinhardt, 27, an appliance salesman, New Party; Harry Leinweber, Social Credit; Dave Broadfoot, a Redcliff hotel operator, Liberal; Jack Cocks, Progressive Conservative.

In the 1959 general election the Social Credit candidate polled 5,604 votes, Progressive Conservative 1,780, Liberal 597 and CCF 495.

During the campaign national CCF leader Hazen Argue and Saskatchewan premier T. C. Douglas visited Medicine Hat to speak on behalf of the New Party candidate.

Split Bid

Foils Co-Op Purchasing

First major attempt at co-operative purchasing of civic supplies to save money appeared to founder Tuesday on a split bid.

City public works committee recommended rejection of all seven tenders for providing bulk gasoline to the city, Saanich and Greater Victoria water district because one of the oil companies, in a bid that did not comply with specifications, offered the city a $1,200 saving on an individual purchase basis.

The tender call had specified a single price to all three corporations making the joint-purchase experiment. The lowest price to the city was in a bid that ignored the single price request.

Committee, after seeking legal advice, decided to recommend rejection of all the bids so that the city could call for an individual tender on its gasoline purchases in 1961.

About $30,000 for the continuing program of controlling Bowker Creek will be proposed in this year's budget, committee was told after it received a petition of about 165 persons for enclosing certain sections of the creek.

City engineer James Garnett was asked to bring in a report on the specific areas that would be involved in this year's program.

CENTENNIAL COMMITTEE DISSOLVED

Century Sam Packs It Up After $6 Million Blowout

The ghost of Century Sam was laid to rest today as the B.C. government officially wound up the centennial celebrations which whooped through 1958.

The cabinet dissolved the centennial committee, headed by deputy provincial secretary L. J. Wallace, which ran the big birthday party in '58.

It also took back the remaining cash in the centennial kitty—a total of $10,623—into the consolidated revenue fund.

Altogether the provincial government spent $3,045,020 on the centenary.

Three hundred and thirteen of B.C.'s communities contributed another $3,192,203 toward centennial projects such as new halls, parks, libraries.

Actually, the centennial committee, in addition to the last $10,623 repayment, gave the government another $50,000 in 1959. It also spent $20,000 establishing $500 perpetual scholarships at Victoria College and University of B.C.

Mr. Wallace, reviewing the five years he has spent with the committee, in 112 meetings and countless centennial celebrations during 1958, said the province can be proud of its effort.

"The good of it?"

"People became more aware of the heritage of their province."

"They created more than $4,000,000 worth of projects which still live on; then there are the scholarships and restoration of Barkerville, the ghost gold mining town of the Cariboo, which is still going on."

He added: "Any success belongs to the people of the province for their co-operation."

Against that, $3,812 came in receipts. Some of these items: $17,500 royalties from the centennial record book, $1,566 for the history book, $3,772 for the anthology; revenue from dances, the visiting musical ride of the RCMP and resale of office furniture.

Members of the centennial committee board of directors, with Mr. Wallace, were: T. R. B. Adams, E. F. Fox, Dr. M. F. McGregor, W. E. Ireland, T. F. Orr, Mines Minister Kenneth Klernan and Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston.

BRANCHING OUT

Some of them will be carrying on work started by the centennial group: They are members of the Barkerville Restoration Committee, planning a big wing-ding in 1962 to mark the centenary of Billy Barker's Cariboo gold strike.

The committee is also branching out into further projects, first of which is restoration of Fort Steele, near Cranbrook, another gold town, and also an early North-West Mounted Police post.

Japan's whaling fleet to the Antarctic in 1960-61 is the largest it has ever sent—143 vessels in seven flotillas.

ASK ADVICE

An unexpected aftermath of the centenary: B.C. has received many requests from other provinces and states for advice on running a 100th birthday party.

But nowhere has really caught the spirit of the occasion as well as B.C. did, says Mr. Wallace.

The final wind-up of accounts represented a year of cleaning up. Spending to the end of December, 1960, totalled $55,171. Some of the items: Funds for Barkerville; the bill for the history of B.C., specially written for the centenary.

BUTTER PRICE TO BE LOWER FOR CONSUMER

VANCOUVER (CP) — A change in the mechanics of guaranteeing a minimum price on butter will be made by the federal government soon in a step aimed at assuring the same return to the producer while reducing cost to the consumer, Agriculture Minister Hamilton said Tuesday night.

The minister told a press conference that an announcement will be made about the end of January.

Police went to the Canadian Bank of Commerce branch at Cormorant and Douglas at midnight Sunday after a young man smashed a window and ran off toward Blanshard.

A resident of Fairfield Hotel, across Cormorant, told police he saw a man of medium build, in his 20s, wearing a light-colored coat, tampering with the window.

Fresh jimmy marks were found on the window and a rear door of the bank, but entry was not made.

(OSCAR CLASS) "INHERIT THE WIND" (Oscar)—Some may argue that Nathan E. Douglas and Harold Jacob Smith's screenplay as based on the play by Jerome Lawrence and Robert E. Lee neither follows faithfully the famous Scopes "Monkey Trial" that mesmerized world interest from Dayton, Tenn., back in 1925 nor the characters involved.

Most patrons, however, will find United Artists' "Inherit the Wind" sheer delight measured in splendid acting and a plot that ranges nimbly through the facets, from high drama to high comedy.

To a great amount this enjoyment is derived from watching two veterans clash their skills, Spencer Tracy and Fredric March. Of the two possibly March had the more difficult role and to him go the laurels for providing the efficient, bumbling and ever-changing backdrop against which Tracy could go to work.

The plot concerns Dick York as a school teacher who has been summarily arrested on the charge of contravening state rights by teaching the Darwin theory of evolution to his class and thereby allegedly refuting the teachings of the Old Testament. Immediately a Baltimore newspaper sends great defence lawyer Tracy to the small Tennessee town that is sweltering in a heat wave to face Bible-quoting lawyer March who in the past has contested unsuccessfully the U.S. presidency three times.

Of course the actors are the thinly veiled principals in the actual Scopes trial, York representing John Thomas Scopes, Tracy, the great Clarence Seward Darrow, and March William Jennings Bryan, regarded as one of the greatest orators of his age. Gene Kelly, as the cynical newspaperman, possibly represented H. L. Menckne, one of the many notable scribes sent to cover the trial that had become a focal point for the world.

Certainly it would come as no surprise if March or Tracy weren't nominated for "best actor" Oscars after their efforts in this.

Garbage Job 'Bad Business' For Saanich

A proposal by ratepayers that Saanich take over garbage collection in the municipality was described by comptroller-treasurer John Tribe today as "not practical and uneconomical."

Garbage collection in Saanich is let out to a private contractor.

H. A. Taylor, 4054 Gordon Head Road, and some other residents, have proposed that Saanich take over garbage collection from contractor Lorne MacNutt.

They feel that as Saanich expands Mr. MacNutt will be obliged to replace and buy new equipment and this will result in an increase in collection rates.

In Mr. Taylor's opinion Saanich should go into the garbage business before Mr. MacNutt is forced to buy expensive equipment.

CHEAPER "We have made an extensive study into this question," said Mr. Tribe, "and found that it is less costly to let out by contract garbage collection. Other cities have come to the same conclusion."

He said labor costs is one reason why many municipalities refrain from taking over garbage collection.

"A municipality has to provide its employees with benefits such as sick leave and holidays with pay," he said. "This is a big item."

On the other hand, he said, many contractors are not faced with these costs.

Another big advantage is that a municipality is not responsible for providing a garbage dump, he said. This is the responsibility of the contractor.

SALVAGE Some contractors, he said, made extra profits by salvaging unwanted articles. This enabled them to maintain their rates at a reasonable level.

"We wouldn't be able to go into salvaging if we took over garbage collection," said Mr. Tribe.

Mr. Tribe pointed out that residents are now paying $6.75 a year for garbage collection. This amounted to about 13 cents a can per week.

"I don't think you can get a service any cheaper," he said.

'I'm All Choked Up' -Father

SHELDON, Iowa (AP)—The economy of this small town in northwest Iowa was in a state of confusion today as the result of a $2,000,000 embezzlement from the Sheldon National Bank.

There were payrolls to be met, outstanding cheques that seemed sure to cause trouble, citizens without funds and local business records in financial disarray. There is only one other bank in the town.

In jail, beyond reach of persons seeking public answers to the questions of how and why it all happened, was Mrs. Burnice Geiger, the 58-year-old daughter of the bank president.

The United States district attorney's office in Sioux City said Mrs. Geiger, a director and assistant cashier of the bank and one of the town's most prominent citizens, admitted the embezzlement.

She was also known for her charitable works.

Her father, W. P. Iverson, 83, president of the bank for 45 years, could only say: "I'm all choked up."

The bank was closed for liquidation by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation after a routine audit by federal bank examiners turned up the shortage Monday night. Deposits were insured up to $10,000 each. Some accounts were said to be well in excess of that amount.

The bank's last statement, December 31, listed total assets at $1,995,000. The embezzlements were estimated at $2,126,559.

The first hard cash in the world was made in Lydia from election, a natural alloy of gold and silver, about the seventh century.

CANADIANS PROVE THEY WANT IT—LUCE Time Not Canadian Stresses O'Leary

OTTAWA (CP)—The chairman of Canada's royal commission on publications hammered Tuesday at the theme that there can be no true Canadian opinion in Canadian magazines without ownership owing allegiance to this country.

In stating and restating this principle, chairman M. Gratian O'Leary made a rung-by-rung climb up the executive ladder of Time magazine to a confrontation with editor-in-chief Henry Luce.

Mr. O'Leary, whose commission is paying particular attention to the impact of competition from American magazines, said the issue has nothing to do with cultural fringe benefits.

The vital role of the Canadian periodical, he said, is that of "discussing, discussing, debating" the regional, sectional and provincial problems of Canada.

If the native periodical press disappeared, he asked

Time executives, where would that discussion come from? Mr. O'Leary said he definitely does not join in endorsing some of the "loose and overwrought language" that flowed several years ago in the Massey royal commission report on the arts, letters and sciences.

NOT ANTI-U.S.

Nor was there any question of anti-Americanism. The three-man royal commission was seeking under its terms of reference to get down to the roots of a matter of political, economic and social urgency.

All this led to the questioning of Mr. Luce, with the chairman of the royal commission and the American managing editor agreeing while disagreeing.

Mr. O'Leary referred to American law barring aliens from controlling a radio or TV station in the U.S., a wise law in his view.

He said that surely Mr.

Luce would agree that the law was passed for the simple reason that "if Americans had a magazine that Canadians have proved they want by buying more than 200,000 copies a week."

Mr. Luce, while agreeing that magazines hold equal importance with radio or TV as an information outlet, said the basic reason for the U.S. law is that the airwaves are deemed to be in possession of the people.

NEEDS CONSCIENCE

Mr. O'Leary quoted a previous submission from a Canadian editor saying Canada cannot survive as a nation unless it has a national conscience.

Mr. Luce said he would agree with that. Mr. Luce said he does not consider Time a Canadian magazine despite its Canadian edition.

Westcoast Holds Inside Track?

By Gordon Bell
Westcoast Transmission Co. Ltd. would seem to have the job of pipelining B.C.'s Peace River oil to Vancouver.

Westcoast's route is under the present right-of-way from Fort St. John south to a point near Williams Lake where it takes off east for a short distance to join the Trans-Mountain pipeline at Kamloops.

The economies of following the present right-of-way are obvious and the only difficulties which might be encountered would be in a few of the more narrow passes.

Trans-Prairie Pipelines (B.C.) Ltd. is understood to have submitted a plan for taking the oil out of its recently built gathering system at Dawson Creek down to join the Trans-Mountain pipeline at Kamloops.

Both Westcoast and Trans-Prairie would keep B.C. oil inside the provincial border and thus out of the jurisdiction of the federal National Energy Board.

However, the Trans-Prairie route would involve blasting a right-of-way through difficult mountain terrain and would seem to be an expensive proposition.

Third contender for the pipeline job, Peace River Oil Pipe Line, can almost be ruled out entirely—although its proposal would involve least expense and the shortest line—since it is believed to have struck with its original plan to tie into Trans-Mountain near Sturgeon Lake in Alberta.

Mr. McCutcheon, who was closely linked with the formation of the company, along with Mr. Taylor, is also vice-president and managing director of Argus Corp. Ltd., chairman of the board of St. Lawrence Corp., and National Life Assurance of Canada, and a director of other leading companies.

Elected to the B.C. Forest Products' board were H. E. Whittaker and H. T. Mead from the Mead Corporation which has holdings in the company.

General Steel Wares has passed the 10-cent quarterly dividend usually payable Feb. 15 and final figures for the year ended Dec. 31 are expected to show a sharp decline in earnings—possibly even a net loss.

GSW president S. J. Randall says the dividend was not paid because of unusually heavy depreciation allowances and non-recurring expenditures for new capital additions and product lines.

Western Plywood earnings for the year ended Oct. 31 are expected to be off by two-thirds compared with the previous year. According to

Industrials Show Strength at Toronto

After Tuesday's brief pause, industrials showed renewed strength on the Toronto stock market today. Prices were also on the upside at New York.

Moore led industrials higher at Toronto with a gain of 1 1/4 at 47 1/2. Crown Trust and General Dynamics both gained a point.

Rails continued their rally at New York. Steels, motors, chemicals, and aircraft-missile stocks were mostly higher. Oils did little.

AT TORONTO golds followed Tuesday's trend and continued to move lower. Campbell Red Lake losing 1/2 at 17 1/2. Giant Yellowknife at 12 1/2.

Base metals were improving rapidly. International Nickel influencing the index with a one-point gain at 62 1/2. Western oils were quiet.

AT NEW YORK, among Canadian issues, International Nickel added 1/2, and Aluminum Ltd. 3/4. McIntyre Petroleum, Dome Mines and Hudson Bay Mining were slight losers.

AT VANCOUVER, trading was moderate and prices varied during the morning. Peace River Pete moved 2,000 at 22. Cowichan Copper traded 5,500 at 24. Cold Lake Pipe sold 500 at $2.35. Cragmont Nickel traded at $200. Trans Canada Pipe sold 800 at $21.75.

AT MONTREAL, the stock exchange marched forward in most sections today amid continuing heavy industrial trading.

AT LONDON the stock market was generally quiet and irregular today.

Gilt-edged securities continued to make some progress and foreign bonds were selectively better, but in Canada Pacific eased slightly while dollar stocks generally reflected the lower overnight close of Wall Street.

AT VANCOUVER, trading was moderate and prices varied during the morning. Peace River Pete moved 2,000 at 22. Cowichan Copper traded 5,500 at 24. Cold Lake Pipe sold 500 at $2.35. Cragmont Nickel traded at $200. Trans Canada Pipe sold 800 at $21.75.

AT LONDON the stock market was generally quiet and irregular today.

of Toronto, subsidiary of Noranda Mines, has announced its price for domestic copper would be reduced by half a cent, to 2 1/2 cents a pound, effective today.

Asbestos Corp. doesn't expect much progress in profits in 1961 over the slightly higher than $1.70 cent a share earnings expected for 1960. Company also warns of danger of Russian dumping of asbestos since that country has greatly expanded production facilities. The hope is that Russian demand will keep up with production and keep any surplus off the free world market.

M. W. McCutcheon, Q.C., of Toronto was elected chairman of the board of B.C. Forest Products Ltd., succeeding E. P. Taylor, of Toronto who will continue as a member of the board and the executive committee.

Mr. McCutcheon, who was closely linked with the formation of the company, along with Mr. Taylor, is also vice-president and managing director of Argus Corp. Ltd., chairman of the board of St. Lawrence Corp., and National Life Assurance of Canada, and a director of other leading companies.

Western Plywood earnings for the year ended Oct. 31 are expected to be off by two-thirds compared with the previous year. According to Canada's "great problem" was to improve the structure of its industry in order to produce, economically and efficiently, the kinds of goods that Canadians were importing on an excessive scale.

Unless this was done, Canada's high level of buying power would continue to create a large deficit in Canada's trade in goods and services.

His speech also was an apparent reply to critics who have said the Bank of Canada should allow a further rise in the money supply to assist economic growth and fight unemployment.

Mr. Coyne indicated clearly he doesn't think this is the answer.

TROPHY TIME FOR ANGLERS

It was trophy time as members of Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association held annual general meeting Tuesday night. Among anglers who received rewards for fishing prowess in competition last summer were Doug Stobo (left), who won trophy for landing 17 1/4-pound coho salmon; L. W. McClintock, holding award for bobbing largest spring taken by VSIAA member—a 44 1/2-pounder, and Lee Hallberg (right), winner of Directors' Derby. (Times photo by Bill Halkett).

SPORTS DIARY

By JIMMY CANNON

NEW YORK—Leo Durocher is a circus of a man, a monger of sound and dazzle. His conversation is a speller's bark praising the side show of himself. Down all streets he goes as if he led a parade of freaks and clowns, trapeze hangers and wire-walkers who work without nets. Sometimes Durocher, who has been named a Dodger coach, is a lion-tamer controlling the ferocious cats with charm and bluster instead of kitchen chair and whip. In other instances, he has the traits of a side-show grifter conning the hicks until the sheriff kills the action. The good coach should be flunked by the manager's desire. He advises, but his function is not to command. And Durocher's talent has always been the fusion of a top sergeant's stridency with a night-club MC's flattery. The guy he is supposed to take orders from is Walt Alston. This is a dignified man of reflective silences who rejects all the stunts Durocher performs to produce an artificial excitement. Alston must feel like a hermit who awakens to discover a circus pitching its tents in his cave.

In baseball, Durocher is regarded as a hippy. Alston runs with the squares. This is not intended as an unkind description.

Guy Lombardo has always been more successful than Dizzy Gillespie. Lom's side men play the arrangements as they're written on the sheet. You can always hear the melody. Do you think Lombardo wants Diz in his brass section?

I think Alston is a great manager. He won a couple of World Series for the Dodgers, and Durocher couldn't take one when he was the Brooklyn foreman. Neither could Charlie Dressen, Bert Shotton, Wilbert Robinson, Casey Stengel or Max Carey. He's strictly a baseball guy and has none of the brazenly pushy instincts of the showman. Hollywood's Durocher's home town. Alston makes the first plane to Dartmouth, Ohio, soon as the season's over in L.A. He is a quiet guy but he provokes respect in those who know him. He manages a ball club with a conservatively intelligent conservatism. Durocher is the ringmaster, belittling the marvels of his troupe.

Both methods are effective, but they conflict. I believe baseball needs the likes of Durocher. But it is inconceivable that he has returned as a coach. He has toiled to be conspicuous all his life. No matter what anyone tells you, the good coach must be part yes-man. The aggressive ones don't last if they try to impose their philosophies on the boss.

Once Tradition to Pick Own Coaches

It once was a tradition of baseball that a manager selected his own coaches. There was generally one who drank with him and nodded when the overseer offered an opinion. The others were selected because they agreed with his theories of the game. Seldom did they take up with a guy who wasn't a friend.

There is no secret about who chose Durocher. It was Buzzy Bavasi, vice-president of the Dodgers. At a press conference, Durocher explained he had telephoned Bavasi and petitioned him for a spot. Naturally, Alston went along with it when he was informed Durocher would be his representative at third base. You don't buck the vice-president when you're a company man.

This is the way Branch Rickey ran his teams. One of his proteges is Bavasi. The trend is popular in modern baseball. The manager's coaches are assembled for him by the top executives. They consult him on deals, but they frequently go through with them despite his opposition. His roster is compiled by the general manager. He is allowed to make the decisions on the field and to supervise the conduct of the players off it.

Before Durocher, Charlie Dressen and Bobby Bragan were Alston's assistants. The ignorant still insists their influence governed his big moves. They're wrong. But this slander must embarrass a guy who has a right to brag about his accomplishments, but never has.

When Dressen went on the pay-roll, Bavasi assured the L.A. baseball journalists that he would never manage the Dodgers. But Buzzy mentioned no such angle in Durocher's case. I must surmise then that Durocher is the next superintendent of the Dodgers.

They'll get along, Durocher and Alston. Why should Durocher buck Alston? All he has to do is remember the stand Bavasi took when Dressen came into the organization in the same capacity. And wait for the club to go bad.

Walker Just Misses Scots' Curling Trip

EDMONTON — Victoria Vital, Man.; Herb Nixon of Daily Times news editor Bill-Winnipeg and Al Shaver of Walker was about a foot away from Scotland Sunday.

That was the difference between stones in deciding the rink which won an expenses-paid trip to Scotland and the Scotch Cup finals. The special prize in the third annual Canadian Newsman's Bonspiel was won by a four-man team skipped by John Lumby of Saskatoon.

Lumby's foursome defeated Stan Thomas, also of Saskatoon, 8-7 in the final. Walker, the third rink for Thomas, was skipped by John Lumby of Saskatoon.

Other members of the Lumby rink were Lorne Leech of St. Regina.

VSIAA Derbies Have New Look

Members of the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association are providing a new look for their fishing competitions.

The anglers provided a new format for the VSIAA ladder derby and at the same time decided to dispense with automobiles as the major consolation prize in the annual Solarium Derby — Vancouver Island's biggest one-day fishing tournament.

Consolation prizes in the Solarium Derby, in the future, will have a value of no more than $300. The same lengthy list of fishing prizes is expected to stand.

The changes were announced at the club's annual meeting Tuesday night.

The change in the ladder setup calls for only 200 runs to be allocated during the season. In the past, 25 run-holders were declared each week for 10 weeks.

Ladder tickets will cost $1 but will be acceptable for any number of fish instead of just one. The ladder derby fish-off's entrance fee has been lowered to $2 from $2.50.

Members also approved an expenditure of $300 for monthly fishing competitions.

RITCHIE PRESIDENT

The meeting elected Ray Ritchie to head the association for a fifth time since he joined the VSIAA in 1936. Also president of the Amalgamated Lower Island Sportsmen's Association, Ritchie has served as president of the Chinook Club on three occasions.

He succeeds Bruce Colegrave. Lyall Pelland was named first vice-president, Bill Montgomery second vice-president and Bob Jones was named secretary-treasurer. New directors are Bert Nex, William Evans, Keith McKenzie, George Crombie, Bob Hogan, Victor Humphries, Hec Campbell, Dan Thomas, Jim Galle, Don Halliday, Art Mawer and Ray Sidaway.

Life memberships were awarded Mrs. Phil Ritchie, Nex and Montgomery.

TROPHIES AWARDED

Trophies were presented to L. W. McClintock, for largest salmon caught during qualifying rounds of ladder derby, a 44 1/2-pounder; Art Midlane for the most (five) button fish on Saturday and Sunday; Carrie Spence for the largest salmon.

Flyers' Fading Fortunes Confusing, Not Amusing

Cougars Snap Out of Slump With Well-Earned 5-3 Victory

Cougars 5, Flyers 3
By DOUG PEDED

Bud Poile never had it so tough or confusing and the Edmonton manager-coach is just about convinced today that the rainy days will never end for his Flyers.

Things are so bad that Bud couldn't even muster the ghost of a smile on his chubby and usually jovial features when the Flyers came to town Tuesday.

The reason for the gloom was obvious. Packing a lot of talented players and picked by a lot of experts to be battling for the top berth in the Western Hockey League, the Flyers have been going nowhere but down in the last couple of months. Bud's boys are sharing the cellar with Winnipeg Warriors.

Going into Tuesday night's game with Victoria Cougars at Memorial Arena, Edmonton had won only one of its previous 12 tussles. But the Cats had also been stumbling, losing four successive games, and Poile had hope.

When the firing ended before an estimated 1,100 fans—possibly the smallest crowd ever to watch a professional hockey game in Victoria—the hope was gone. The Cougars, snapping back with an alert effort, had chalked up a 5-3 victory and the Edmonton record was one win in 13 games, two in 18 and four in 23.

"I never saw anything like it," moaned Poile, who is struggling to preserve a record of always having the Flyers in the playoffs. "I've never run into anything like this."

Doing the most to keep the clouds over the Flyers was Doug Macauley, the quiet little Victoria winger who just happens to make his home in Edmonton.

Macauley, who slipped to 11 goals last season after getting 22 or more tallies in six successive campaigns for the Cougars, did just about everything for the Cats Tuesday night.

Doug fired the first Victoria goal, worked hard to set up plays, and helped out the defence with persistent back-checking. He even took a turn at goaltending.

His netminding stint came late in the second period with the Cougars holding a 3-2 edge and the Flyers buzzing around the Victoria net. Goaltender Marcel Pelletier slid out in goal to make a save, and Macauley stepped between the pipes just in time to bat away a shot that would have evened the count.

Cougars, who had yielded 27 goals while scoring only seven in their four-game losing streak, looked a lot like the energetic club that started with the season. Displaying more enthusiasm and better balance in the forward lines, the Cats twice came from behind before grabbing the 3-2 lead in the second period.

Len Haley, turning on a great burst of speed to make good on his fourth breakaway chance, knotted the score again early in the third period, but that was all for the Flyers.

Veteran Doug Anderson, managing to get his stick to the puck despite a clinging check by Edmonton's Lloyd Haddon, put the Cougars in front to stay. Anderson made it 4-3 as he battled in the rebound of a slap shot by Hugh Currie at 7:26.

Playing every man up when they had the opportunity, the Flyers threatened continually in the closing stages until they lifted goalie Dennis Riggan for an extra attacker in the final minute. George Ford, climaxing a sound two-way game, notched the clincher, beating Bob Solinger to a sliding puck and skidding it into the empty net.

The 135-pound Macauley matched his goal output of last season with his first-period tally, his 11th of the season and 181st of his WHL career.

Gerry Goyer, Victoria's leading scorer, connected on a play with Ford in the second period for his 20th goal of the campaign and added an assist on Ford's goal to run his point total to 43.

Rookie Bert Fizzell, showing more of his early-season drive, fired the other Cougar goal, his 13th.

Scoring for the hapless Flyers, who flashed some good hockey, but lacked co-ordination when near the goal, were Don Poile, Chuck Holmes and Haley.

Pelletier, stopping 12 of 13 shots as the Flyers pressed in the opening period, finished with a total of 26 saves while Riggan was credited with 27 stops.

VIKING VIEWS

By LES MILLIN

Basketball is getting to be a fighting word around Victoria College. Everybody follows it, everybody talks about it and everybody wonders about it.

Victoria College has a tradition of turning out fine teams and students still point with pride to the Dominion junior championship that the Vikings brought to Victoria four years ago. As well, other bits of hardware have found their way to the college over the years.

It is an impressive record for a small liberal arts college — one which everyone wants to see maintained.

Vikings' record up to Christmas was creditable but not spectacular. Suffering from a lack of height, they made up for it in speed and teamwork. Good coaching and efficient ball-handling kept them at a very reasonable level.

Then came the new look. Opening the second term with a whirlwind victory in which they ran up a very healthy point margin, the Vikings went forth to play two exhibition games against U.S. college teams. They were trounced both times, dropping to the level of the Ancient Mariner who "stoppeth one of three." Their average has dropped a bit.

In spite of the fact that the Vikings refuse to alibi, a quick look at the statistics indicates a few reasons why this might be so. Victoria College fields a team whose average height is barely six feet, as compared with American teams who average six feet two inches.

Then again, the Vikings made their invasion into the States with only seven warriors, playing teams who can pick their lineups from 14 to 16 men. With a system like that, it isn't difficult to run the short-handed team off its feet.

Friday night sees the match in which the Vikings hope to get their revenge. Skagit Valley Junior College will meet the Vikings at the Victoria College gym at Gordon Head. Playing on their home court, with a home crowd rooting for them, Vikings will have a good chance to make a name for themselves.

Game time is 8:30.

On the upswing is the college rugby XV, who racked up a victory over James Bay, 11-3, last Saturday. Gray Eaton and Tom Bourne contributed tries, while John Wenman added a penalty goal and a convert.

Future looks pretty rosy for the rugby boys, who are now making up for the time they lost in the first half of the year, when they were temporarily upset by injuries. But the college looks forward to top billing on the local rugby scene.

Also keeping up the good work is the girls' grass hockey team, whose skein of victories runs back into last year. They lengthened it a bit Saturday with a 9-1 win over the Grasshoppers. Four of the winning goals were the work of Elizabeth Philpott, followed by Sally Hughes with three. Sue Mearnes and Sue Dickinson got a goal each.

And while we're speaking of hockey teams, the college ice hockey squad is also building up an impressive record of victories. Monday night saw them win again, this time with a 9-3 score.

It may just be that hockey teams are allowed to wield sticks while nobody else is, but it seems to be impossible to hold those stick stars down.

CHARLESTOWN, W.Va. (AP)—Racing was scheduled to resume today at Charlestown race track after Monday's program was postponed because of a six-inch snowfall.

LOOK to a fine future in Canada's Army!

Much of the esteem in which Canada is held throughout the free world has been won for her by Canadian troops overseas — second to none as professional soldiers and able representatives of their country. Through their service in United Nations contingents and their contribution to NATO they play an important world role in helping preserve the peace. Today the Canadian Army has vacancies for young men of calibre to follow this fine tradition on a career basis. Those selected benefit from first-class training of both mind and body... interesting, varied, well-paid work... unique opportunities for travel and adventure... the constant satisfaction of giving valuable service to their country. If you're between 17 and 25 — single and physically fit — get full details today of the fine future that can await you in Canada's Army of the sixties.

FOR B.C. TOURNEY

Top Bird Aces Expected Here

At least three of Canada's top male badminton experts are expected to be flailing shuttles in Victoria early next month.

Slated for entry in the three-day B.C. open tournament, which starts Feb. 3 at Victoria Lawn Tennis and Badminton Club, are Bert Ferguson and Wayne Macdonnell of Vancouver and Dave McTaggart, former Vancouverite now living in Toronto.

All three are at Toronto this week, competing in trials to select Canada's Thomas Cup squad. The Canadians will meet the U.S. team at Toronto in late February for the right to advance against the European zone winners.

Thomas Cup matches, played every three years, are the badminton equivalent of the Davis Cup tennis tests.

ONE TO WATCH

Macdonnell, one of the Dominion's most promising prospects for international honors, could be the player to watch in the cup trials and in the B.C. tourney. The well-conditioned 20-year-old swinger is the current Vancouver Island champion and this winter chalked up a 15-12, 15-3 triumph over Ferguson, the reigning B.C. king, in the Vancouver City tourney.

McTaggart, former holder of the Canadian singles crown, shifted operations to South America and the U.S. before moving to Toronto. If he is back in full-scale training, the acrobatic McTaggart must be rated a good chance of climbing back on the Dominion throne.

Meanwhile, play continued Tuesday in the Victoria Open tournament at the VLTBC courts.

Highly placed Alex Barlowen and Doug Beulah were downed 15-11, 13-15, 15-4 by Lloyd Crampton and David Park.

In another match Tuesday, Ken Cox and Peter Bousefield came from behind to best Vince Clarkson and Doug Flagg 7-15, 15-12, 15-8.

Tonight's draw:
7 p.m.—Beulah vs. Hodely; McKennie vs. McDowell; Currie and Ford vs. Patterson and Whitlock; Suggert and Wilson vs. Chapman and Hodely; Massey vs. Godfrey.
7:45 p.m.—Butler and Smith vs. Book

Canadian Champ To Meet London

TORONTO (CP)—George Chuvale, Canadian heavy-weight champion, will meet Brian London of Britain in a 10-round bout at Maple Leaf Gardens Monday, Feb. 20.

London lost his British and Empire heavyweight crown to Henry Cooper last year. Chuvale was to have met Bob Cleroux of Montreal Feb. 6, but that fight was postponed when Cleroux suffered a training injury.

College Squads Could Fill Void

PITTSBURGH (AP)—College coaches think they may have the answer to organized baseball's minor league problem—summer varsity competition.

Lee Ellbracht, Illinois baseball coach who both played and managed in the minors, said "there are empty minor league parks all over the country. Many communities are without good hard-ball competition. The colleges can fill that void."

BOWLING Fault Finder

Pendulum Swing

Get back in that groove.

By LINDY FARAGALLI
1958 All-Events Champion

I can almost tie myself in knots with frustration at times because I don't believe I could hit my spot on the lane if it were as big as a swimming pool.

Before I get too upset and blow the match, however, I'll practice my arm swing without the ball about 15 or 20 times before it is my turn to bowl.

I try to get back in that pendulum-like groove. If I can have my arm swing like the pendulum on a grandfather's clock — arm and wrist perfectly straight with the shoulder acting as the pivot point — I know that I'll be able to direct the ball over the second range finder from the right-hand gutter.

That is my favorite spot for making strikes.

SOLUTION FRIDAY

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other interesting prizes? Then ask Andy. Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions are selected to answer with worthy prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia, and of the second question a Macmillan Atlas or Globe.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume Encyclopedia to Joan Dayan, age 10, of Atlanta, Ga., for her question.

What does a sea horse eat?

The cute little sea horse is fussy eater, which is one reason why we cannot keep him as an aquarium pet. No, he does not graze in the floating ocean meadows of plankton, nor does he munch hay. In fact, the little fellow is not a vegetarian at all. Unlike the noble heron who lives on land, the sea horse is a meat eater. He feeds on the smallest members of the crustacean clan, the little cousins of the crab and the lobster. We can find relatives of these crusty little creatures on the ocean beaches. They are the so-called beach fleas, the sand fleas and the sand bugs. Actually, these animals are not at all related to the fleas and bugs of the insect world.

Warm, tropical waters teem with countless varieties of these miniature crustaceans. They resemble the green sea-weed flea which we find clinging to floating seaweeds. The sea horse also eats baby crabs, shrimps and lobsters. Almost any crusty sea dweller smaller than a quarter inch is food for him.

There are about 50 different sea horses in the warm and temperate oceans of the world. Most are but a few inches long. The smallest is two inches and the giant of the family is one-foot-long. They are fishes of the pipefish family and, of course, they are not at all related to the noble heron who lives on land. They have no legs, no manes, and they breathe through gills instead of lungs.

When you look at the little sea horse, however, you can see how he got his name. He has a horsey snout and the graceful arch of the horse's neck. But he does not resemble the land horse in any other way. He does, however, look somewhat like the knight or horse in a chess set.

Needs Fresh Water Daily

It is no easy job to keep a sea horse in an aquarium because he needs a change of fresh sea water at least once a day. But, if you are lucky, you may watch him in some seaside aquarium. He stands straight up in the water, perhaps resting with his long tail grasping a seaweed. Or he may be gliding through the water with his tail curled under his puffed-up chest. How does he swim? Look closely and you will see his fine gauzy fins fanning the water, perhaps 35 times a second.

The little fish moves slowly and with great dignity. You would never guess that he is out hunting for his dinner. The mouth of the sea horse is a small round hole in the end of his horsey snout. Since he feeds on crusty crustaceans, you might think he had a mouth full of teeth. But this is not so. The sea horse has no teeth. When he finds himself a little crustacean, he closes and you will see his

without ointments, pile pipes or suppositories

Here is a nice, clean, easy way to shrink swollen, painful piles without the inconvenience of ointments, pile pipes or suppositories.

The secret is in taking just one small Hem-Rod Tablet with water, two or three times a day. By effective INTERNAL action this mild but gently persistent medicine causes congestion, helps break up and smoothly pass off the internal waste, relieves itching, soreness and pain, helps shrink piles and permits them to heal. Hem-Rod is so easy to use, so pleasant and satisfying

U.S. ABLE TO ORBIT 'BUSLOAD' BY 1966

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)

The United States will be able to "fire a whole busload of astronauts into orbit" by 1966 or send three men to the moon and back before 1970, Dr. Werner von Braun said Tuesday.

Von Braun, head of the space flight centre at Huntsville, Ala., said he "wouldn't be surprised" if the Russians try to send a man into space this week to coincide with the inauguration of President-elect Kennedy.

It is doubtful the Russians already have sent a man into space, von Braun said, though he feels "they have the capability."

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Wasn't it wonderful how some papers pilfered my Marilyn Monroe-Joe DiMaggio story? (Here are a couple of facts for your next story, fellahs.)

MM says yes, she saw Joe a few times. "He has been a wonderful friend," he's been a good Joe; we happen to know Joe doesn't like MM any more than he does a .350 batting average. And, since seeing Joe, she's coming out of her shell (Quelle shell!). "The taped a little tribute to Clark Gable."

They're claiming that "Tarita"—Marlon Brando's new leading dame in "Mutiny", being filmed in Tahiti, is 19, no speaks English, never heard of Mumble, and turned him down cold for dates twice 'cause she prefers a local yokel who wears a loin cloth.

"Bookfriends", in New York, posted a sign, "Help Stamp Out TV—Buy a Book", so a customer came in and asked for a TV Guide.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL... Frank Sinatra's been devoted this entire N.Y. trip to one girl, blonde pretty actress Barbara Kelly. ... Desi Arnaz phones Eucy nightly at "Wildcat", during intermission. ... Joey Bishop told his wife, "Don't worry so much about your inaugural gown—but don't forget to bring your sneakers, because next day we'll all be playing touch football."

Keeley Smith, now a golf fan, got a gold putter from Louis Prima. ... Dick Haymes' son Skipper, 18, is a pageboy at NBC. ... Eichmann's captor, Tuvia Friedman, closed a deal here for a book about the exploit.

"Gone With the Wind" gets still another re-release in the spring, in time for the Civil War celebrations.

EARL'S PEARLS: "My advice to people who want to make something big of themselves is simply this—'Keep eating'."—Tony Pettito.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: "I have enough money to pay my taxes," says Jack Herbert. "Now if I can just borrow some to live on..."

A lush asked Joe E. Lewis at the Las Vegas Flamingo for $20 until his ship came in. Joe E. gave him the money and asked, "By the way, what ship are you expecting?" The drunk said: "The Titanic". That's earl, brother.

Helping "Scoly" out with his deadly duties are Leptura Obliterata and the Ambrosia beetle.

Unlike most bark beetles, these offenders do not circle the tree trunk but prefer to attack the tree in sections, usually working from the top down.

The beetles do not appear to be affecting the Gorge Park Douglas firs.

TRAMPOLINE CENTRE REJECTED

Saanich council Monday refused to rezone a lot on the Patricia Bay Highway and Vanalman Avenue adjacent to a golf driving range to permit the establishment of a trampoline centre.

Applicant Arthur F. Thommasen, 285 Arnot, said the lot would also be used for serving food.

Council felt if the lot was rezoned it would lead to ribbon development along that portion of the highway and result in similar requests for commercial rezoning.

Missile Try Kills Six

CIUDAD TRUJILLO (Reuters)—About six persons were killed and eight injured, most of them soldiers, in an accident during a guided missile experiment by the Dominican army, according to press reports received here Tuesday.

The accident occurred when a small projectile fell near the village of Pedro Santa on the northern frontier with Haiti, the reports said.

Nuisance Beetles Force Gorge Park Trees To Be Axed

Two dozen trees—mostly balsam—are being axed in Kinsmen Gorge Park because they are infested with bark-biting beetles. Little fellow at the root of the trouble is Scolytus Pentralis.

The trees are being removed on the recommendation of an official of the federal forest laboratory. Once down, he suggests the trees be burned to prevent the beetles from continuing their activities elsewhere.

Helping "Scoly" out with his deadly duties are Leptura Obliterata and the Ambrosia beetle.

Unlike most bark beetles, these offenders do not circle the tree trunk but prefer to attack the tree in sections, usually working from the top down.

The beetles do not appear to be affecting the Gorge Park Douglas firs.

THE KENNEDY STORY

By JOE MCCARTHY
(Twelfth in a Series)

John Kennedy will be one of the most intellectual men to live in the White House. His wife says that, if she was drawing a picture of him, it would have an enormous head and a small body. "He's much more serious than I thought he was before I married him," she says. "He looks young, but he's never been a boy. After I got to know him, I went out and took a course in American history."

In the post-operative recuperation period after October, 1954, Jack loaded his room with reference material from the Library of Congress and spent five months working on a book-length manuscript, "Profiles in Courage." He had thought about the theme of the book—the bravery of senators who stand up against popular sentiment of their constituents—ever since he read years before about how John Quincy Adams had been damned in Boston for supporting Thomas Jefferson.

Courage His Theme

"Profiles in Courage" recounts instances of resistance under threatening pressure by constituents of such figures as Sam Houston, Daniel Webster, George W. Norris, Edmund G. Ross, Thomas Hart Benton, Lucius Lamar and Robert A. Taft. The Kennedy chapter on Taft praises him for his courage in condemning the legal principles of the Nuremberg war criminal trials in 1946.

"I have not included in this work the stories of this nation's most famous 'insurgents'—John Randolph, Thaddeus Stevens, Robert LaFollette and all the rest—men of courage and integrity, but men whose battles were fought with the knowledge that they enjoyed the support of the voters back home," Kennedy wrote in the book.

"It may take courage to battle one's president, one's party or the overwhelming sentiment of one's nation; but these do not compare, it seems to me, to the courage required of the senator defying the angry power of the very constituents who control his future."

Wrote Best-Seller

Kennedy's book was serialized and became an immediate best-seller when published in 1956, and won a Pulitzer prize. Within three years almost 180,000 hard-covered copies and more than half a million paper-bound editions were sold. It still sells around 50,000 copies a year, and has established itself as a favorite high school book review assignment.

When Estes Kefauver defeated Senator John F. Kennedy for the vice-presidential nomination at the 1956 Democratic convention in Chicago, a New York paper commented: "The famous Kennedy luck ran out today."

Kennedy took his defeat for the vice-presidential nomination hard at first, not realizing that his showing at the convention had made him an attractive figure in national politics and that he was fortunate not to have his name on a losing Democratic ticket.

He left Chicago in a state of exhaustion, withdrawn, tense and pre-occupied. It was a miserable time for his wife Jackie. She was seven months pregnant, ill and lonely. She had stayed with her sister-in-law Eunice and Sarge Shriver in Chicago and had seen Jack only a few times when he had wandered past the box where she was sitting at the 1956 convention.

Lost Her Baby

Then Jack decided to fly to France to spend a couple of weeks with his father while Jackie went to her mother in Newport, Rhode Island.

Four days after she arrived there, Jackie was rushed to hospital for an emergency operation. She lost her baby and was seriously ill. Jack was notified by telephone in southern France and rushed back by plane immediately. But after two weeks in Newport, sitting every day with Jackie in her hospital room, he was gone again, campaigning for Stevenson.

After the Stevenson defeat in the election, Jack and Jackie found that they had no desire to go back to the big house in Virginia to which they had planned to take their baby. They sold the place to his brother Bobby and wife Ethel, who had just had their fifth child.

It's No Year to Raise Wages—Mayor

Mayor Percy Scourrah Tuesday said he is totally opposed to any wage increases for civic employees "because they just aren't justified this year."

Crash Kills Six

MAGNOLIA, Miss. (UPI)—A streamlined passenger train collided with a gasoline truck here today exploding a fire of flame and metal that killed six persons.

Commenting on a city policemen's union request for an approximate 2 per cent boost this year, the mayor said he is against it.

The mayor added he was "definitely opposed" to wage increases for any civic staffs this year.

"In my opinion, this is no year for civic employees to ask for wage increases. They have good jobs and with the amount of unemployment there is and the difficulty that many people are having in paying their taxes, a wage increase would not be justified."

The mayor cited several factors that should be considered by the employees.

"They have a guaranteed year-round wage, generous holidays, sick leave, superannuation and an assurance of continued employment."

These fringe benefits cost the taxpayers 23 per cent on top of the indicated wages they are paid.

Test in Indian Ocean

PARIS. (Reuters)—The mass-circulation newspaper France-Soleil forecast Tuesday that France will explode its first hydrogen bomb in the Kerguelen Island of the Indian Ocean.

How to eat your orange juice

(and why it's a good idea)

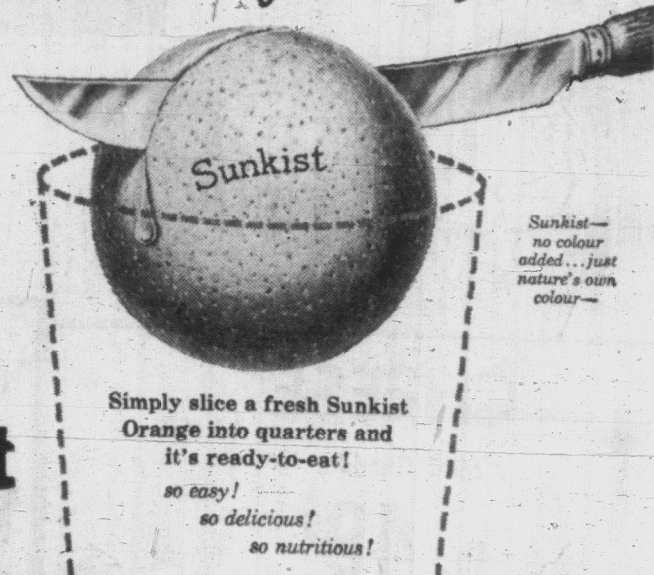

People who know their oranges know that the main source of many of this fruit's nutritional values is the meat. This is why they prefer to slice a Sunkist orange into quarters and eat their orange juice every morning.

- That way, they get
- all the delicious, fresh juice
  - all the nutritious orange "meat"
  - all the Vitamin C
  - all the Protopectins
  - all the Bio-flavonoids

New Heating System In Esquimalt Arena

In an effort to lessen the problem of perma-frost, Esquimalt's new ice arena will incorporate an experimental heating system.

The perma-frost problem concerning year-round ice surfaces as a whole has been under study by the National Research Council for some time and by coincidence the system to be used at Esquimalt is the same as the system suggested by the Research Council as the one most likely to succeed.

Under the surface of the new curling rink a number of four-inch asbestos ducts will be installed at 20-foot intervals. A thermometer four feet below the ice surface will let officials know if the ice temperature is going down to a dangerous level and hot air will be pumped through the ducts—stretching the length of the ice—to take the temperature up again.

The system was devised by the Victoria construction firm of A. B. Sanderson, consulting engineers for the project. Esquimalt council decided to use the system after hearing that when the Burnaby ice rink was taken up, officials discovered perma-frost to a depth of seven feet.

A day-by-day pictorial record of progress on the $400,000 arena is being made, municipal engineer John Graeme said. About half a dozen color slides are taken every day by members of the surveying staff.

LOCAL BRIEFS

The Saanich Peninsula Conservative Association will meet in the Royal Oak Institute Hall at 8 p.m. Friday, Jan. 27.

A report will be read on the recent provincial annual meeting.

Loss through fire in Esquimalt took a surprising dive in 1960 to a low $2,511. Fire loss in 1959 stood at $67,344.

Esquimalt buildings involved in fires last year were valued at $60,000. Insurance on these realized $55,600, giving a loss of $1,692.

Insurance of $11,000 was paid out for contents of the properties, giving a loss of $782, and car fires resulted in a loss of $36.

Brian Hoole, 5675 Oldfield Road, presented Saanich council Monday with a bill for $27.77 for two tires damaged when his car hit a curb at the corner of Spartan, Oldfield and Old West Saanich Roads.

He claimed the curb in front of a church protrudes into the road and is difficult to see at night.

Council referred the bill to its insurance adjusters.

Since the accident, two posts with reflecting lights have been placed near the curb.

Two youths were fined $20 each when they pleaded guilty Monday to charges of being minors in possession of beer.

Kenneth Ernest Knott, 20, HMCS Naden, had one bottle of beer when checked by police in Esquimalt, and Roland Ernest Sudues, of Sooke, had three bottles when checked by city police.

Application of Wong Construction Co. to rezone a lot on the southeast corner of McRae Avenue and Shelbourne Street for apartment use, was rejected by Saanich council Monday.

Town planner Tony Parr recommended that the application be rejected on the grounds that the proposed apartment would not conform to the apartment bylaw. There would be insufficient off-street parking, he said.

The director of pay services for the Canadian Army, Col. D. S. Hutcheon, will visit Victoria Jan. 30 to discuss matters concerning army pay and allowances with regular army and militia units.

ISLAND FAMILY PEELED SPUDS, WASHED DISHES

A Port Alberni couple and their two-year-old daughter were among passengers aboard the eastbound Continental No. 4 which was halted by a slide Sunday.

The woman, identified only as Mrs. MacDonald, said all the women pitched in to help the cook in the emergency.

"We peeled potatoes and washed the dishes," she said after arriving at Kamloops, 60 miles east of the slide area.

The family was bound for Saskatchewan. Passengers had to crawl up a canyon wall to a road. Baggage was left on the train. A relay of cars, a truck and a bus made the 3½-hour trip to Kamloops.

Former Bisley Shot Dies in City at 59

Squadron Leader Bosville W. Beaumont, who won honors for Canada and B.C., at the international rifle shooting contest at Bisley, died in Royal Jubilee Hospital Tuesday. He was 59.

Mr. Beaumont represented the Canadian Scottish Regiment (Princess Mary's) at Bisley in 1924. Later, after transferring to the RCAF, he again represented Canada as a marksman in 1925, 1927 and 1934.

During the Second World

War Squadron Leader Beaumont was engaged in providing bombing and firing ranges for airmen training under the Commonwealth Air Training Scheme.

Surviving him are the widow, Veronica, at home at 3167 Glasgow Street; one daughter, Mrs. T. F. (Audrey) Davie, Washington, D.C., and an uncle, Capt. E. G. Beaumont, Discovery Island.

'END DISCRIMINATION'

B.C. Road Grant 'Peanuts'—Mayor

Mayor Percy Scurrell Tuesday called for "drastic revision" of the Provincial Highways Act to end discrimination against cities which may cost Victoria hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Pointing out that the province pays 100 per cent of arterial road costs in municipalities, the mayor decried the present situation under which Victoria will have to foot the entire bill of $400,000 to $800,000 for extending Blanshard to the city limits.

The mayor complained that Victoria would have to bear the full cost merely because it is classed as a city and not a municipality.

"PEANUTS"

He said last year's road grant from the province of $67,000 to Victoria "is peanuts compared to the amount of money needed for the development of Blanshard Street from the city limits."

Mayor Scurrell also objected to the better deal given municipalities on secondary roads under which the province pays 50 per cent of the construction cost and 40 per cent of the maintenance bills.

PAYS 40 PER CENT

"As an example of what I mean, Beach Drive and Cadboro Bay Road in Oak Bay are classified as secondary highways and the government pays 40 per cent of maintaining those highways.

"But when the streets enter the city, Victoria doesn't get a dime towards their maintenance."

"The Highways Act was passed in 1946, and may have been all right at that time, but in my opinion it is very badly in need of drastic revision for present-day needs... revision which will give the cities a better deal than they have at the moment."

Swallowed Needles

TOKYO (Reuters) — A 16-year-old girl was released from hospital Monday after 27 needles she swallowed 10 years ago were removed from her body. Four needles still deeply imbedded in her body will not endanger her life but probably will "work their way out," doctors said.

16 Victoria Daily Times

Walsh will be accompanied by the B.C. area commander, Brig. J. W. Bishop.

EVERYONE KNEW ROSE MARIE

'What Can Anyone Do?'

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (AP) — A migratory farmer and his wife today tried to adjust to the shock of the kidnap-slaying of the daughter, Rose Marie Riddle, 6.

Residents of a farm labor camp where the Riddles live shared the family's grief. They stood in clusters, quietly talking of the tragedy.

"What can we do — what can anyone do?" asked one woman.

Rose Marie was known to most of them — a smiling, blue-eyed youngster with a mortgaged future because of a congenital heart condition.

A former convict from Texas and his pregnant wife awaiting trial in the Kern County jail, differed in their versions of how Rose Marie died. Dixie Elaine Lindsey, 23, told officers her husband abducted the child from the camp, spent time alone with her and returned without the youngster. Mrs. Lindsey said the front seat of the car was covered with blood when Lindsey rejoined her.

Investigators said Lindsey, 30, former mental patient, gave another account.

He said after they abducted Rose Marie last Thursday, his wife struck the youngster on the head with a wrench. Lindsey said he raped and throttled Rose Marie.

The Lindseys, each charged with murder and kidnapping, were arrested Sunday in northern California. The wife directed police to the body, found Tuesday in a field northwest of Bakersfield.

VICTORIA, B.C., WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 18, 1961—PAGE 17

MONTE ROBERTS

Mr. Louis St. Laurent, the former Prime Minister of this, the fairest nation of them all, has struck a praiseworthy blow for admirers of great men.

Mr. St. Laurent has firmly declined to write his memoirs.

Now safely and comfortably retired, Mr. St. Laurent says he is content with his memories. As far as I can figure out, he can remember all he wishes to remember without memoirs, and has no wish to force his memories on others through the medium of memoirs.

I can only hope he is setting a trend other great men will follow.

The urge which comes upon great men in their desert days to produce memoirs is something I have always deplored in secret.

Now that Mr. St. Laurent has come out against memoirs, I feel reasonably safe in proclaiming my attitude toward memoirs, loud and clear.

If a great man wishes to write his memoirs, let him make one copy only and lock that copy in a subterranean vault.

When a great man prevails upon a publisher (excuse it, when a PUBLISHER prevails on a GREAT MAN) to write his memoirs, thousands of readers are put in an impossible position.

These are the thousands of readers who are ardent admirers of the great man in question, but who have no desire to read his memoirs.

Memoirs are almost invariably about as thrilling as a letter home from boy's camp.

Yet the thousands of admirers of the great man (who do not wish to read his memoirs) are hard put to know what to answer when asked: "Have you read the great man's memoirs?"

The admirer feels he is somehow insulting the great man if he says "no," or "not yet," or even "I've set aside this weekend for that very purpose."

The admirer feels no such compunction about biographies of great men.

Biographies of great men are okie-dokie, because the admirer can say: "No, and I don't intend to, because I don't like the way the author writes."

This is no reflection on the great man, and indicates no diminishing of the admirer's admiration.

It just indicates the admirer's discriminating taste in literature.

So it is relatively simply to not read a biography of a great man. But not reading his memoirs is like passing a friend on the street without acknowledging his salutation.

May I, then, as an admirer of Mr. St. Laurent, salute him for making it so easy to not read his memoirs?

Long may he continue to not write them.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Central Junior High School PTA will sponsor a "Wagon Wheel Jambo" at the school Friday evening at 8.

Social Credit Association of Esquimalt-Saanich federal riding will hold a meeting in Lake Hill Hall, Quadra Street, Thursday at 8 p.m. Speaker will be George Hahn, member of the executive council of the national board, Social Credit League.

Saanich police union notified the police commission Tuesday that it will not seek wage increases for its 25 members in 1961.

But the union requested that when an officer works overtime that he be given time-and-a-half instead of equal time.

The commission agreed to the request.

Current measles outbreak is spreading rapidly in Greater Victoria and surrounding areas with 195 new cases reported in the week ended Monday.

Sixty-four of the cases were in Victoria-Esquimalt health unit and 131 in Saanich and South Vancouver Island health unit, Dr. Elizabeth Mahaffy, city medical health officer, said Tuesday.

Ronald Havard, director of the Boys' Club of Victoria, today notified police that an unauthorized person is selling magazines in the name of the club.

"We have authorized no one to do this," Mr. Havard said. "I understand this man calls at houses collecting names of boys and offers to sell magazines for some fictitious contest we are supposed to be holding."

Twelve Central Junior High School students will get the red carpet treatment Saturday in the Empress Hotel with manager Cyril Chapman as their host.

Mr. Chapman will guide them through all sections and departments of the hotel "top to bottom" and treat them to a reception in his suite and a lunch.

The tour was arranged by Mr. Chapman for the students who showed interest in the hotel business as a vocation.

TRAFFIC FINES

In city police court today: Edwin Damien Lalonde, 1440 Bay, $20 for driving without a licence.

Omer Birkland, Ladysmith, $40, and Kenneth Knippschild, 1264 Gladstone, $40, for careless driving.

Robert L. Zimmerman, HMC Dockyard, $25 and $35, and driver's licence suspended, for two charges of violating driver's licence restrictions.

About 15 night school students will serve at their own graduation banquet Friday night.

The women are waitresses who took a special 16-session training course at Victoria school board night class to earn provincial certificates in their field.

They will wait on some 40 hotel, restaurant and night representatives at the Net Loft in a demonstration of their capabilities. Presentation of the certificates will follow.

New College Block Tours Set Tonight

Victoria College's new classroom-office block goes on public view this evening.

Guided tours of the three-story building—first in the planned expansion of the campus—will start for the general public at 7:30 p.m.

The new addition to the Mount Tolmie campus was opened officially by Premier W. A. C. Bennett at a special ceremony this afternoon.

First monthly meeting this year of the directors of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce has been called for Friday noon in the Empress Hotel.

A set of 15 children's books valued at $148 was stolen from a parked car on Empress Avenue, the car owner reported to city police Tuesday.

The books, property of A. A. Ferguson, 2411 Wark, were left in a car belonging to Mrs. Irene White, 1029 Empress, parked at her home.

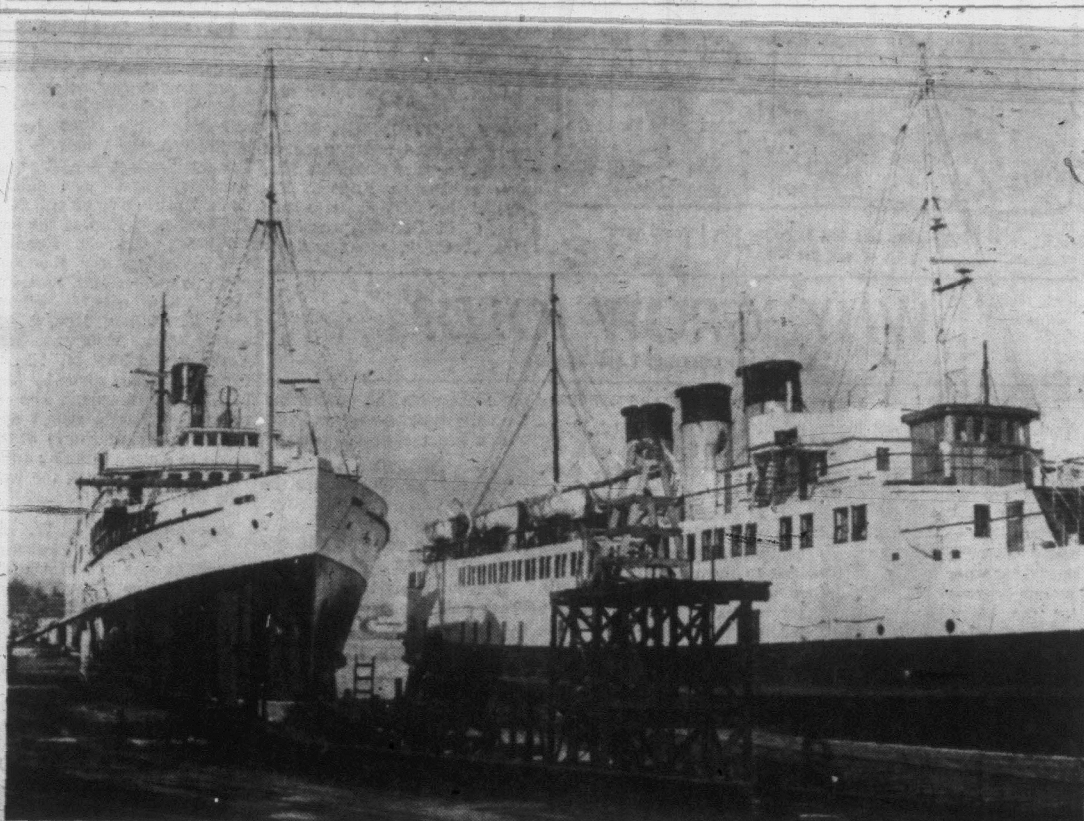

Regular meeting of St. Andrew's and Caledonian Society will be held in Holyrood House, McBride Avenue, Thursday evening at 8.

Cubs and Scouts of the 1st Tillikum Group will be staging a bottle drive in the Tillikum-Gorge area Saturday morning.

Results of Victoria Duplicate Bridge Club's team-of-four championship tournament Tuesday were as follows: First—Isabel Kelly, Laura Tingley, Walter Allen and Eric Horwood.

Second—Ethel Cleworth, Hilda Price, Jack Goldie and Larry McMillan.

Third—Lillian Goodwin, Dorothy Hill, Jo Waddington and Madge Meachem and Pat Bishop, Marianne Powell, Frank and Isabel Artlett.

Alaska Bound and Whither Bound?

There's work ahead for one of these two veterans of CPR's B.C. Coast Service, a question mark for the other. Princess Louise (left), entering 40th year since being built at Burrard Dry Dock, is being readied at Belleville Street docks for another season on popular Alaska cruise service which commences May 29; more doubtful future lies ahead for Princess Elaine, Clyde-built 33 years ago. She has been laid up indefinitely, replaced on Nanaimo service by Princess Patricia. (Times Photo by Halkett.)

Free Test For School Television

Greater Victoria's school system will have its closed-circuit television experiment after all.

School Board chairman W. C. Gelling today confirmed preparations are underway for a demonstration of the TV teaching technique in S. J. Willis Junior High School at the beginning of February.

NO COST
But it won't cost the board any money, he said.

Engineers are setting up a camera and receiver system loaned to the board by an eastern firm for the demonstration.

"We are not committed in any way by this and we have no intention of purchasing the equipment," said Mr. Gelling. "It does not involve any expense to the board so we welcome the opportunity of seeing it work for ourselves."

A year ago the board kicked up a storm of controversy when it proposed spending $19,500 to finance a pilot program—the first for B.C.—at S. J. Willis where a TV studio would have beamed selected lectures into four classrooms on the closed circuit.

VETOED

The proposal was dropped after the provincial government and Greater Victoria council vetoed the financing.

Next month's experiment will be different in several important respects:

It will not cost anything; the demonstration will be viewed by invited community leaders and teachers instead of students; and it will only last from Feb. 1 to 3.

Closed circuit TV was originally advocated by the board, after a year of study and investigation of similar plans in the U.S., as a method of improving instruction by providing uniform lectures to pupils from top teachers in the various fields.

TWO OFFENCES, YEAR APART, COST YOUTH TOTAL OF $50

Offences committed nearly a year apart brought a total of $50 in fines today when Robert R. Stofor, 19, of 1677 Christmas, pleaded guilty to charges in city police court.

Stofor was checked by police last Feb. 26, when 17 bottles of beer and a small bottle of whisky were found in his car. He was charged with being a minor in possession of liquor and fined $20.

On Jan. 6 of this year police checked the accused again, found him with two bottles of beer and laid the second charge.

He had not appeared in court meanwhile because of an extended absence from the city, court was told.

Man, Wife Impaired, Fined $500

A man and wife charged with impaired driving after their cars crashed together at Government and Johnson a week ago each were fined $250 when they pleaded guilty in city police court today.

Hendry and Edna Sekkemo, of Sidney, earlier pleaded not guilty to the charges, but advised the court through counsel of a change in plea.

Police said a car driven by Hendry Sekkemo was in a rear-end collision with a car ahead that stopped suddenly in the line of traffic on Government at 1:05 a.m. The front car left the scene before police arrived.

DIDN'T KNOW

Sekkemo said he did not know who was driving the other car, which he described for police, enabling them to stop it shortly after and charge its driver—Mrs. Sekkemo—with impaired driving.

Both motorists were examined by a doctor before they were charged.

Magistrate William Oester suspended Mrs. Sekkemo's licence and remanded Hendry Sekkemo for a probation report on the matter of suspension when the accused said he needed his car for business.

Frigates Arrive At Pearl Harbor

Three RCN Pacific Command frigates reached Pearl Harbor Tuesday, their first port of call in the course of a 3½-month training cruise for 36 cadets of HMCS Venture, the naval officer training establishment at HMC Dockyard.

HMCS Sussexvale, Beacon Hill and New Glasgow will leave Thursday for Suva, where they are due Jan. 29.

They left Esquimalt Jan. 9, will return April 21.

Accused Mother To Appear Here

Mrs. Margaret Hill, 25, charged in Ucluelet RCMP court with assault causing actual bodily harm to her stepdaughter, was remanded today to Jan. 25 when she will appear before Magistrate A. I. Thomas in Victoria RCMP court.

It is expected there will be a further remand at that time. She was released on her own recognizance, with no bail asked.

The stepdaughter, three-year-old Leslie Hill, was brought to Royal Jubilee Hospital from Tofino Hospital a week ago suffering concussion. She underwent a lengthy operation and is still in serious condition. She is unconscious most of the time.

Two Showings For Popular Nature Films

Famed nature photographer Robert C. Hermes, travelling under the auspices of the National Audubon Society, will present a motion picture program at Oak Bay Junior High School at 8 p.m., Friday and Saturday.

His subject will be animals at home and afield. One section of the program is devoted to the sea, with penetrating camera studies of sea urchins, sea cucumbers, anemones, and along the shore, of pelicans and terns.

LIFELIKE APPEARANCES FOR 'MUSEUM'

He'll Mix Wax, Light for Realism

Subtle lighting effects will be used to give realism to the 60 kings, queens, saints and statesmen who will be here in wax next spring.

They will be exhibited as a permanent attraction in the lower ballroom of the Crystal Garden.

"We shall use the very latest methods of theatrical lighting," says John Steele, managing director of the Royal London Wax Museum—a $100,000 enterprise.

"This will give the figures a really lifelike appearance—more so than the famous Madame Tussaud waxworks in London."

Here to do the job is lighting expert Derek Dero, a slim modest young man from York, England.

Mr. Dero was a top arts student who claims he was "no good" at anything else at school. Later he took part in amateur theatricals and in 1953 went to Toronto hoping to follow a theatrical career.

"I found little opportunity in this field," he said, "so I got a job as display man in a Peterborough store. Then I went into display work on my own."

It was the success of this museum that prompted Mr. Steele to open one in Victoria.

"Mr. Dero has an absolute gift for this work," he said, "and I am confident he will make a huge success of the display here."

Admission to the Victoria museum will be $1 for adults and 50 cents for children. It will take 30 or 40 minutes to inspect the 60 waxworks, which will include Khrushchev, Stalin and Lenin; all members of the British Royal Family; famous Canadian prime ministers, Sir Winston Churchill, and Hitler.

"Hitler will be on his own. We shall give him a special setting all to himself," Mr. Steele said.

'Sabotage' Charge Levelled

Passmore Trying to Block Orderly Progress—Murphy

Coun. Leslie Passmore of Saanich today was accused of trying to "sabotage" orderly development of the municipality's Shelbourne area.

The charge was levelled at the veteran and often controversial councillor by Coun. Stanley Murphy, chairman of the lands and planning committee.

The clash between the two councillors began Tuesday at a committee meeting which saw disagreement break out over implementation of a previously approved plan for developing the Shelbourne, Gordon Head and Cadboro Bay districts where some 5,000 residents will get sewers this year.

The zoning plan cost $5,000 and took two years to prepare. It involves reserving specific locations for commercial, park or school purposes ahead of need whenever it appears they may be sold for some other purpose.

NO FAVORITISM

City Hall may be tough in enforcing building regulations but it also proved today that it is fair.

An electrical inspection recently revealed that the wiring in an old store-apartment block at 1024 Caledonia had become faulty and the usual notice condemning it and ordering re-wiring was sent out.

The unusual aspect is that the building, next to the Royal Athletic Park entrance, is owned by the city. It was taken over in 1931 and rented out because, although part of the park reserve, the building was too valuable to demolish.

The building department, which had to issue the re-wiring order under the bylaw to the land commissioner's office which is in charge of the building, also has to advise city departments on building and maintenance costs.

So, along with the official order it sent an inter-departmental note saying the job would require $250. Back came a note agreeing to the re-wiring—and requesting that the sum be put in the 1961 maintenance estimates.

WITH CONSENT

Coun. Passmore said he was not opposed to rezoning ahead of need only if the property owner consented to rezoning.

He also favored immediate public hearings for property owners on the locations regardless of when rezoning is contemplated.

Coun. Murphy said his opponent was attempting to confuse ratepayers and to prevent the plan's implementation.

"Coun. Passmore is fully aware that the purpose of the plan is to acquire property when there is a danger of land being used for other purposes, that is to rezone and acquire property gradually as the need arises," he said.

He said calling for immediate public hearings undoubtedly would bring some objections "because you can't expect a property owner to approve rezoning now when his land won't be needed for another 20 years, even if it is for school purposes."

AVOID MISTAKES

The plan, by determining ahead of time what the land requirements will be as the Shelbourne district fills up, is designed to eliminate mistakes of "urban sprawl."

Here's how the advance rezoning would work:

If a location set down for future park development under the plan goes up for sale council would step in and rezone it for parks so that some other development would not occur. Then the land would be bought by the municipality out of the special half-mill park fund approved by ratepayers last year.

Similar rezonings would be made ahead of schedule if it appeared necessary to head off undesirable developments. Also, the future road grid would be reserved now to ensure that a costly and meandering system of roads did not develop over a period of years.

This plan will be "shot down in flames" if Coun. Passmore's objections win the day, says Coun. Murphy.

ASK The TIMES

Q. Could you give me any information on the Trans-Atlantic Brides and Parents' Association? I believe it is a club for British girls married to Canadian servicemen. Is there a branch here in Victoria?—J.C.

A. Each YWCA has a comparable club but they go under different names. It could be the name you have belongs to one of these clubs. The counterpart at the YW here is the Empire Social Club.

Q. It seems to me the late C. D. Howe was on a ship somewhere and it was torpedoed. Is this so?—E.M.

A. Yes, he was aboard the freighter Western Prince en route to England in 1940 when the ship was torpedoed by a German U-boat. The minister of munitions and supply spent many hours in an open boat, taking his turn at the oars, until rescued by another freighter.

Magnetic Pot Holders Ideal Shower Presents

By PENNY SAVER

Invited to a bridal shower? Looking for a gift that will be just a little out of the ordinary? If you are, why not get a pair of magnetic pot holders?

These are handy as well as unusual. They come in their own clear plastic case, and are selling at $1.25 the pair. Holders are permanently magnetized and completely washable. They'll cling to range, refrigerator, steel cabinets and other metal surfaces.

One holder is in yellow while other is black. Both are decorated in colorful kitchen motifs.

Another "different" item I came across today was a package that looked just like a miniature suitcase, complete with carrying handle. Inside I found — of all things — shoe mittens!

Don't get the wrong idea — it's not that the manufacturer thinks shoes are in danger of catching cold — mittens are designed to cover them and protect other items in your suitcase when you're travelling.

Each miniature case contains two pairs of mittens. Ones designed for men have one pair in black and white and the other in royal blue and black. For women there's a case with two pairs, one in red and white and other in green and white.

Mittens are in knitted cotton and have tie closures at top. A case of these sells at $2.25.

Now that snowdrops are in bloom in city gardens and other spring flowers are on the way it's the time to invest in one of the dainty birds I saw today. Perched on a flower in a bouquet they'll be a conversation piece among your friends and family. They are made of soft material that looks most realistic and have feather wings and tails. They come in red, pale blue, white, yellow, green or pink and sell at 39 cents.

If you would like to know where Penny shopped today give her a ring at EV 2-3131.

DEAR ABBY

Show the Way!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: We need your advice. We are 200 seventh grade students. We have a teacher who is very pretty, but she is already 27 years old and she isn't married and we are afraid she is going to be an old maid.

There is a darling policeman who is a bachelor and would be just right for her. He wants to meet her, but is quite shy. How can we get them together? Thank you: "200 CUPIDS"

DEAR "CUPIDS": The next time your school has a social function (PTA, Visiting Night, a school play or a hop) one of your boys should invite this policeman to come as his guest. Then one of the girls should tell the school teacher that the policeman was invited because he was interested in meeting her. Then all you "cupids" should disappear.

DEAR ABBY: Please print this for all the people who complained about the price of haircuts: Barbers, along with clergymen, firemen and policemen, belong to the "sacrifice" group. The public expects them to work for nothing.

I have the most trouble with baldies. They can comb their hair with a wash rag, yet they come in and ask for a haircut. ("Just trim it around the ears a little.") Then they gripe because I took off too much.

"HANK (I Use Your Head in My Business) THE BARBER"

DEAR ABBY: I am going with a woman who has been legally separated from her husband for six years. I want to marry her but she says she can't get a divorce because of her religion. What do you advise me to do?

RICHARD.
DEAR RICHARD: Quit wasting your time.

Foster Home Equipment Purchased

Money was voted at meeting of the Women's Auxiliary to the Family and Children's Service, to purchase needed household equipment in two group foster homes. Preliminary plans were made for the annual Ridotto to be held in early June. Mrs. G. L. Hunter is general convener.

TODAY'S RECIPE

OLIVE POTATO SOUP

Two-thirds cup ripe olives, 2 cups diced potatoes, 1/2 cup diced celery, 1/2 cup diced onion, 1 1/2 cups water, 1 1/2 teaspoons salt, black pepper, 2 cups milk, 3 tablespoons butter or margarine.

Cut olives into large pieces. Cook potatoes, celery and onion in water about 20 minutes or until very soft. Mash part of the vegetables in soup mixture leaving some whole. Stir in seasonings, milk, butter and olives. Heat thoroughly and serve. Makes 6 servings.

THE BETTER HALF

By Bob Barnes

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

I offered you my Eight-Week Self-Improvement Marathon last week. Thousands and thousands of my readers joined. I think the fact that so many are "in this" together is one reason for the Marathon's popularity.

Although you cannot see them you know many other women you have never met are exercising and counting calories just as you are, to see how much they can improve their appearance in eight weeks' time.

It is so much more fun and so much easier when you have company. It would be a good idea to form a Marathon Club in your neighborhood. In different parts of the country women have done this with great success and a good time for all. One such group met to exercise together twice a week and had a reducing luncheon once a week. They brought their charts to this weekly luncheon and compared results in weight loss and in measurements. After that, if they had time, they played bridge.

One of the members of this group told me that they all were ashamed to bring their record sheets unless they had stuck to their calorie counting and exercise. Each member carried on with her diet and exercise on the days she did

Reports—In reports given at annual meeting of the Guild of St. George the Martyr Church recently it was announced that members of afternoon and evening branches had combined to give a chancel rail to commemorate 21st anniversary of the guild, $100 was donated to the Theological College, $50 to Camp Columbia and year's activities had raised $1,557.50. Miss McAnally reported 369 pounds of clothing sent to Columbia Mission at Prince Rupert. Re-elected for second term are Mrs. C. H. Rennie, president; Mrs. C. Clark, vice-president;

Mrs. G. M. Stewart, treasurer, and Mrs. E. J. Harwood, secretary. Miss J. Phillips is executive member. It was decided to hold annual Cadboro Bay flower show in April.

Pot Luck Supper—Centennial United Church Women's Association started 1961 with a pot luck supper and variety concert. Among 129 members attending were eight groups of the WA, the Women's Missionary Society, the Evening Auxiliary and the church choir. Retiring president, Mrs. J. Sneddon, welcomed the new president, Mrs. D. Bennett. Group leaders for the year were named as Mrs. Sneddon, Mrs. J. Paul, Mrs. J. Latham, Mrs. M. McIvor, Mrs. J. McKenzie, Mrs. N. Marsh, Mrs. S. Owen and Mrs. M. Adkins. Financial report given by Mrs. L. Lumley, treasurer, showed more than $2,000 raised during the past year and $1,200 given to church building fund. Mrs. S. Parsons took the worship service.

Auction—Mrs. W. R. Freethy was named chairman of auction sale at forthcoming IODE Festival, 1961, during a meeting of the Royal Bride Chapter, IODE, held recently in the St. Charles Street home of Mrs. R. S. McConnan. Mrs. F. Ritchie and Mrs. L. Muirhead will assist Mrs. Freethy. Sum of $171 was raised from a holiday draw. Mrs. F. Retrie reported. Donations amounting to $15 were forwarded to municipal treasurer. Belmont High School received $5 for a film strip and $9 was donated to purchase shirt for patient in Veterans' Hospital. Mrs. L. Muirhead and Mrs. J. Talbot are in charge of arrangements for annual meeting and dinner to be held in the Net Loft February 2.

Gifts—Services and home and abroad convener, Mrs. P. E. George, announced at a meeting of Navy League Chapter, IODE, that three hampers to the value of $27.50 were given to needy families at the sick visiting; Miss G. Rossiter woman in Clovelly Nursing Home, and a gift to the chaplain's adopted patient in the Veterans' Hospital, Mrs. W. convener.

Norman presided. Mrs. W. Brynjolfsson, Mrs. M. G. Smalley and Miss H. Davenport were named to the nominations committee. The annual meeting will be held on February 10, in the Oak Bay Beach Hotel.

New Executive—At a recent meeting of St. Matthias' Ladies' Evening Guild, Mrs. F. E. W. Robinson was elected president; Mrs. D. Brown, first vice-president; Mrs. G. L. Levy, second; Mrs. J. S. Houston, secretary, and Mrs. C. MacIntosh, treasurer. Chairmen include Mrs. D. W. C. Huggins, refreshments; Mrs. K. Hvid, Yuletide; a gift to an elderly woman in Clovelly Nursing Home, and a gift to the chaplain's adopted patient in the Veterans' Hospital, Mrs. W. convener.

Ceylon Women's Institutes Celebrate a 30th Birthday

ST. MARY'S, Ont.—The Lanka Mahila Samiti (women's institutes) of Ceylon marked a 30th anniversary with a celebration at Kaduwela, its model rural demonstration centre, set up 12 years ago.

Tribute was paid to the part the Lanka Mahila Samiti has played in raising the standard of living with its self-help economic, health and social programs in the rural villages.

Today, the organization is nation-wide with 150,000 members in 1,400 active Samitis. This success is due to the untiring efforts of the members of this non-political and non-sectarian society.

A Canadian, Dr. Mary Rutnam, formerly of Clinton, Ont., founded the society in Ceylon and received the Raymond Magsay Award for her efforts on behalf of the rural villagers of her adopted country.

In 1953, the Associated Countrywomen of the World, then meeting in Toronto, pledged its help to establish the rural training centres. Federated Women's Institutes of Canada provided funds to erect and equip 25 of these centres.

At the eighth triennial conference of the ACWW in Colombo, Ceylon, in 1957, members of the Canadian delegation visited the centres and saw the important work going on there.

Mrs. Kennedy Turns Steps To White House

PALM BEACH, Fla. (UPI)—Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy, rested by six weeks of privacy in the Florida sun, leaves today for Washington to become the nation's first lady.

The 31-year-old brown-eyed, brunette beauty, was accompanied by her two secretaries, President-elect John F. Kennedy left for Washington and New York yesterday.

The two Kennedy children, Caroline, 3, and John, almost 8 weeks, will stay behind in Palm Beach for the next week or 10 days until their nurseries are ready at the White House.

Mrs. Kennedy missed out on the big party tossed by her sister and brother-in-law, the Stephens Smiths, last night at their Georgetown home. But she plans to take in some of the other festivities beginning Thursday night when she steps out in the town with her husband to attend a concert at Constitution Hall and the gala where many of her friends will be on stage.

On Friday she will be one of the star attractions when her husband takes the oath of the presidency and later that evening when she makes her rounds of three inaugural balls in their honor.

Both Jacqueline Kennedy and her attractive brunette mother-in-law, Mrs. Joseph P. Kennedy will wear white gowns to the balls.

Capucci's Designs—Dreams or Nightmares

FLORENCE (AP)—Contrary to popular opinion, Capucci raised a furor at the Italian fashion openings Tuesday night, but Simonetta took most of the bows with an idea she carried over from fall.

With the big four of Roman couture all showing their new collections, it was the biggest day of the Florence showings of spring and summer fashions.

Simonetta stuck to her "boyish look"—rounded, parenthesis-shaped sleeves, slightly arched at the shoulders, that were engineered on loose, sometimes bias-cut coats and on rather high-waisted swaggar suits.

Simonetta outshone her competitor husband, Fabiani.

He, too, stuck to a theme of last season, wide, kimono sleeves on loose coats.

The buyers and press were sharply divided over whether Capucci's clothes were dreams or nightmares. He did 1930 costumes in murky-colored crepes that dripped with bias cutting. Heads were banded, with tulle, bows to complete the flashback look.

Irene Gallitine's well-executed collection had loose coats with flange shoulders and mandarin collars that stood away from the neck. Buttons were dispensed with, adding to the clean line. Suits were collarless and buttonless.

CLUB CALENDAR

Diocesan Board, Woman's Auxiliary to St. Mary's Anglican Church, Friday commencing with Holy Communion at 10 a.m.

Aldyen Hamber Chapter, IOOE, Thursday at 8 p.m. in home of Mrs. Graham Harris, 337 Foul Bay Road.

THE WINTER SEASON

There are many pleasant ways to spend the longer winter evenings: reading a good book... watching television... building things etc. To achieve the maximum pleasure and benefit, it is important that your glasses be adequate for the purpose. Have your eyes examined soon and bring the prescription for glasses to either of our two offices where you do benefit from service that is unequalled.

World Communist Victory 'Not Far Off'—Khrushchev

QUEBEC FIRE

the house 600 feet away where he knew there was a telephone. Vosburgh indicated there was bad feeling between himself and the neighbor, Leon Primerman.

Vosburgh denied his son Irving's testimony that he beat his wife "pretty often" — about once a month — and that he once broke her ribs with a stick of firewood.

"I never hit her," he said. Irving, who grinned wryly at his two married sisters as he took his seat after testifying,

Colwood Site Of Proposed 1962 Tattoo

Proposed searchlight tattoo for the city's centennial in 1962 will be held at Colwood fair grounds, retiring president of the Greater Victoria Celebrations Association said Tuesday night.

Ald. Geoffrey Edgell, who headed the association for the past four years, was succeeded by former vice-chairman Joseph Wright to the top post at the association's annual meeting.

Ald. Edgell, who also is president of B.C. Agricultural Association which operates the Colwood fair grounds, said the site was chosen because a crowd of at least 20,000 at each performance is needed to make the tattoo pay.

The celebrations association agreed to make arrangements for various centennial events at the city's request.

North Kiwanians 'Go It Alone' On Installation

Victoria North Kiwanis Club will be holding its own installation ceremony for the first time at the Monterey Restaurant, Friday.

In previous years the club has held joint installations with the other two Victoria Kiwanis clubs.

Friday's event will also mark the club's 10th anniversary and the 46th anniversary of Kiwanis International.

Guests will include Saanich Reeve George Chatterton and Mrs. Chatterton; Ed Mallek, the new governor of Kiwanis Clubs in the Pacific Northwest district, and Mrs. Mallek.

Ernest Miller of Nanaimo, the lieutenant-governor, will install the following officers:

President, L. H. R. Steick; first vice-president, Jack Moore; second vice-president, Mel Genge; secretary, Tommy Outteridge; treasurer, C. W. Brown.

Directors for 1961 will be Jack Hilliard, Jack McKinty, E. A. Coleman, S. E. Clark, E. A. Prentis, Jack Lindsay and Hugh Newman.

Grieving Hotel Owner Dies of Broken Heart

TORONTO (CP) — Charles Hemstead, well-known Toronto hotel owner and horseman, died Tuesday night as he finished supper in his suburban York Township home.

His doctor blamed "a broken heart."

KIND, GENTLE

"He was a very kind and gentle man and the thought of persons dying in the hotel was an extra crushing blow in the face of his other losses," said Dr. R. W. Royden.

Two men died Monday when fire destroyed the $370,000 Carson Hotel. Mr. Hemstead's last major holding. Two weeks ago Hemstead's $500,000 restaurant was lost in a blaze that also destroyed the Canadian National Exhibition's Manufacturers Building.

Only half of the loss was covered by insurance.

ing/ also said he had heard his father threaten to kill his mother when she refused to hand over part of the family allowance "but I don't know if he meant it."

Irving said he left home about a year ago after a fight between his parents in which he took his mother's side.

SPREAD OIL ON FLOOR?
Mr. Noiseux, referring to the fire spread, asked Vosburgh "was it that bad because you spread oil on the floor?"

"No sir," Vosburgh snapped. Dr. Bernard Peclat — the forensic expert who helped to determine that a home-made bomb caused the crash of a Canadian Pacific Airlines plane in 1949 — said that in his opinion the fire as described by Vosburgh could not have been started by the oil stove, whether it was functioning properly or not, except in highly unusual circumstances.

"He is innocent and we are all sure he is innocent," said Abel Vosburgh's son-in-law after the jury found Vosburgh criminally responsible.

"We will stick by him and see him through," said William Maybee, 26, husband of Gladys Vosburgh, one of the four children not living at home.

Fourth Ship Hints Space Try Imminent

WASHINGTON (AP) — The presence of a fourth Russian range ship in the North Pacific was reported by the U.S. Navy Tuesday, thereby increasing speculation that the Russians are about to undertake a major space test.

A navy patrol aircraft spotted the ship, the Suchan, 1,000 miles south of the Aleutian island of Attu. It was moving on a southeast course at nine knots — about 10½ miles an hour.

The appearance of the Suchan led the navy to guess that the Russian shoot probably will take place this week, possibly about the time President-elect John Kennedy is due for inauguration Friday. All four of the range ships — the Suchan, the Chokota, the Sibir and the Sakhalin — are carrying helicopters. They could be used to recover either a missile nose cone or a space capsule.

Hearings End

OTTAWA (CP) — The MacPherson royal commission on transportation held its last public hearing Tuesday.

Behind closed doors now, the six commissioners face a mountain of work as they shape up their report for the federal government. Their report is due March 31.

MOSCOW (AP) — In a speech published Tuesday, Premier Khrushchev declares that victory of world Communism "is no longer far off."

War is not necessary to achieve the victory, Khrushchev said in a report Jan. 6 to a general meeting of party organizations in Moscow. But it will come, he warned, if capitalist nations try to resist the Communist victory — "inevitable by the laws of historical development."

The 20,000-word speech, considered one of the most important documents published in Moscow since the end of the Second World War, appeared in the magazine Kommunist.

DRAG INTO GRAVE

"The working class, which today governs a vast area of the world and in time will rule the whole world," Khrushchev said, "cannot allow the doomed forces (imperialism) to drag hundreds of millions of people into the grave with them."

One of the means for preventing a new war is the development of "peace fronts" throughout the world, including pacifists of all political beliefs, he said.

PEACEFUL CO-EXISTENCE

Another is the policy of peaceful co-existence.

He said the policy of peaceful co-existence "facilitates the activities of the Communist party and other progressive organizations of the working class in the capitalist countries, makes it easier for the peoples to combat aggressive war blocs and foreign military bases and contribute to the success of the national liberation movement."

AVOID WAR

There was much talk of war in Khrushchev's address. He emphasized it was to Communism's advantage to avoid the annihilating thermonuclear conflict. It also opposed brush fire wars that might flame into world conflict.

But he put the full support of world Communism behind what he called wars of national liberation, such as in Algeria.

Six Police Barely Miss Prowler After Dairy Entered

Six policemen searched a Port Street dairy for a prowler early today but found only signs of a hasty withdrawal.

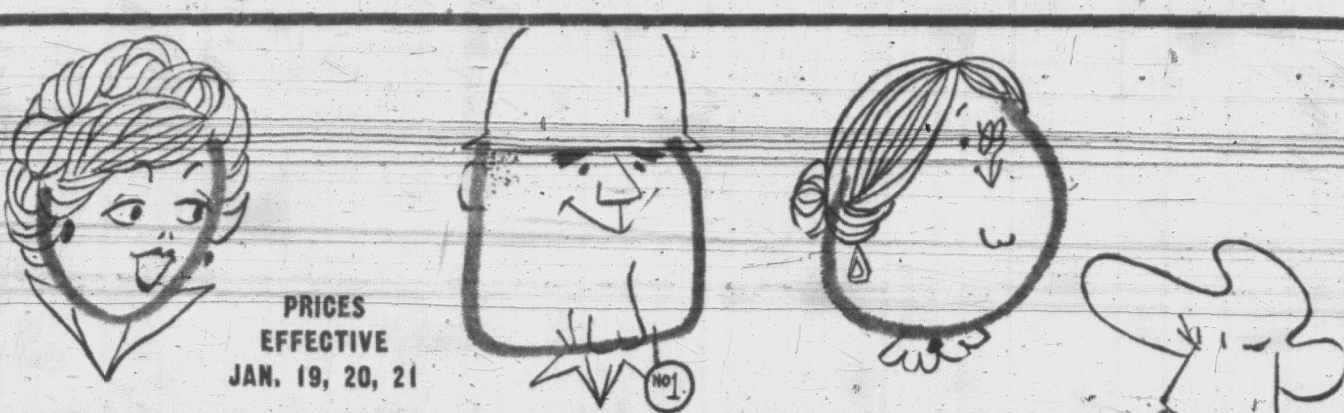

Patrol Cons. James Ramsay discovered a rear door at Shepherd's Dairy, Ltd., 1645 Port, had been broken open and radioed for assistance at 12:38 a.m.

Reinforcements arrived and the building was combed. A door leading to a lunch counter at the front of the dairy was forced. There were other signs a prowler had just left. Nothing was missing.

Sidney Bus Run Cuts Unopposed

Saanich lands and planning committee Tuesday decided not to oppose an application of the Vancouver Island Coach Lines Ltd. for permission to reduce its bus services for Sidney and the West Saanich areas.

The company's application for a change in bus schedules will be submitted in the near future to the Public Utilities Commission for approval. A V.I.C.L. official told the committee that a steady decline of passengers is the reason for requesting a reduction in the present bus service.

Theatre Boss A Weak Man

VANCOUVER (CP)—Former Civic Theatre manager John Panrucker, described by his counsel as a weak man who would do anything to avoid a conflict, pleaded guilty Tuesday to charges of theft and forgery involving more than $5,000.

He was remanded in custody by Magistrate Oscar Orr until Monday for sentence.

Panrucker, former manager of the Queen Elizabeth Theatre, pleaded guilty to theft of $5,313 from the city and two charges of dealing in forgeries involving $255.

Panrucker, who was originally charged with theft of $20,000 from the city and various organizations and 18 charges of forgery, asked that a list of 61 forged cheques totalling $7,868 be taken into account when his sentence is pronounced.

Defence counsel Richard Bird pleaded for leniency for Panrucker. He said his client was "aught between temperamental artists who expected quick decisions and a lethargic civic administration board which knew little of theatre work."

HIRED IN 1959

Panrucker, hired by the city to manage the Queen Elizabeth before it opened in July, 1959, was suspended after a lengthy investigation by auditors and city fraud squad detectives, then dismissed and arrested.

Panrucker offered in city police court Tuesday, to make partial restitution of the stolen funds. The court was offered a quit claim deed turning over his superannuation fund of $1,213 and severance pay of $745 to the city.

The court was told Panrucker was sentenced to two years in his native England in 1954 for false pretences involving some $4,000 while he was manager of a wholesale tea and coffee firm. He came to Canada a few months after serving 16 months of his sentence.

Parallel Parking Protested

Lack of planning and forethought is posing a serious traffic problem for tenants of a shopping block and the Saanich public works department. It involves "angle parking" at the Lakehill shopping centre on Quadra which is being reconstructed to Reynolds Road this year.

Quadra is a secondary highway. It will become a main arterial thoroughfare to and from the city when reconstruction of the road is completed to Douglas next year.

Shopkeepers in the block have asked the public works department to allow angle parking to continue until such times as adequate parking facilities are acquired. This would mean that cars would back up into the main stream of traffic.

RUIN BUSINESS

They claim if Saanich orders "parallel" parking for the block it will ruin their businesses because fewer cars will be able to park for shopping.

Tenants agree with the public works department that the shopping centre is badly planned and that council is not responsible for the lack of parking facilities.

According to the public works department it is one of the first serious traffic problems encountered on one of the municipalities main thoroughfares.

MORE TRAFFIC

Henry Blakeney, superintendent of works, said traffic will rapidly increase on Quadra within the next few years.

"It will be extremely hazardous if we permit cars to back up into the main stream of traffic," he said. "A road is for the movement of traffic."

The public works department has decided to try to work out a compromise with tenants.

Fishermen Reap Jobless Fund Fruits

OTTAWA (CP)—In three years Canadian fishermen netted from the unemployment insurance fund nine times as much as they put into it.

Auditor-General Maxwell Henderson says that, between April, 1957, and March 31, 1960, fishermen received $26,700,000 in benefits while contributing only $2,900,000 to the fund.

Mr. Henderson added: "The coverage of fishermen, the majority of whom are self-employed rather than under contract of service, has created serious difficulties in administration and control because it is not practicable to apply two of the basic conditions for receiving benefits, i.e., that the applicant be unemployed and available for work."

SAUVE, DUPLESSIS KIN PURCHASED GAS SHARES

MONTREAL (CP)—The late premier Paul Sauve and a nephew of the late premier Maurice Duplessis were among the largest purchasers of Quebec Natural Gas Corporation stock in 1957, a royal commission was told Tuesday.

Mr. Sauve and Jacques Bureau of Trois-Rivieres, Que., were named in the testimony of investment broker Maurice Forget before the provincial royal commission inquiry into the former Union Nationale government.

Mr. Sauve, mentioned for the first time as a purchaser of the stock, bought 150 units. He was then minister of youth and welfare. His secretary, Jacques Larocque, bought 10 units.

Mr. Bureau bought 300 units from the firm of Forget and Forget, in addition to 100 from other investment dealers who had given evidence to the commission.

The units, made up of one debenture and four common shares, were issued in April, 1957, at $140 each.

Soviet Fish Transplant Succeeds

LONDON (Reuters)—Soviet experts have for the first time succeeded in the "bold experiment" of getting Pacific salmon to live and spawn off northern Scandinavia and Russia, the Soviet news agency Tass said Tuesday.

In scale and significance, it was the biggest experiment of its kind ever made, Tass said. The salmon involved were the hump-backed salmon, the most numerous and quickest propagating in the Pacific.

In the experiment, salmon fry were released in the North Atlantic and returned to spawn in the White and Barents Sea areas, resulting in the acclimatization of an estimated 80,000 salmon, Tass said.

Kinsmen Have $40,000 For New Health Centre

DUNCAN — Duncan Kinsmen Club has informed city council it has grants and pledges totalling $40,000 towards its proposed new health unit building.

Project chairman Bob Howard said the club hopes to call tenders for the project by April 1. Plans are to call the unit the "Helen Moss Health Centre" after the late Mrs. Moss who originated Duncan's first health centre.

Kinsmen asked council to: Convey title of the building site on Canada Avenue to the club during construction; give them permission to salvage lumber and fixtures from the old building; and consider working time of city crews and machinery as part of a grant toward the project.

MAYOR WORRIED

Noting that Kinsmen had requested a grant of $5,500 toward the project, Mayor Jack Dobson said he is concerned about committing "future councils and taxpayers to the upkeep and maintenance of the unit."

Ald. J. H. Saunders said residents from surrounding areas would be using the centre "but the city will have to assume all responsibility for the building."

Mayor Dobson said he would like to see the club "go to the public for funds" and have council make up the deficit. Council agreed, however, to consider the requests.

DUNCAN — City council has approved in principle a plan by Duncan Lions Club to operate a mobile concession at fairs, ball games and other events.

Club member Harold Ramsbottom told council that all proceeds would go to the retarded children's fund.

DUNCAN — Duncan and North Cowichan municipal councils will meet with trustees of School District 65 next week to discuss mutual problems and responsibilities. Meeting will be held Monday in the library of Cowichan High School at 8 p.m.

DUNCAN — The 93rd annual meeting of the Cowichan Agricultural Society will be held on Saturday, Jan. 28, beginning with a noon luncheon in the Commercial Hotel, Duncan.

Six directors will be elected to fill vacancies on the 15-man board. Already eight nominations have been received and a vote by ballot will be necessary.

Only those attending the annual meeting are entitled to vote, according to the regulations of this oldest organization in the Cowichan Valley. Nominees are Grant Lovese, Hamish Mutter, Stanley Owens, Donough O'Brien, William Wohlers, William Anderson, Henry Westwick and John Hulbert.

DUNCAN — Civic and civil defence officials had high praise today for efforts of Duncan volunteer firemen who worked long hours Sunday evacuating residents, pumping out flooded basements and piling sandbags.

"They were everywhere," said Mayor Jack Dobson. "They took charge and did a wonderful job. My hat is off to all the other Duncan citizens who pitched in and helped their neighbors."

Civil defence chief E. C. Bolin agreed wholeheartedly. Civil defence welfare chief V. L. Stanley-Jones also had compliments for telephone operators.

"They were rushed off their feet with calls throughout the day but did a marvellous job."

DUNCAN — There were a 101 stories of self-sacrifice and public co-operation out of Sunday's serious flooding but

'Daggers' Visit Comox

Eight U.S. Air Force F-102 "Delta Dagger" interceptor planes visited the Comox RCAF base recently after a joint "scramble" with Canadian interceptors.

The exercise, held over Vancouver Island Jan. 5, was part of a wide-spread NORAD alert. The F-102s worked out of Comox operations, and were "scrambled" to both USAF and RCAF controlling agencies to intercept targets.

Grounds crews to service the U.S. planes were flown in from their base at Paine, Washington, but RCAF ground crew personnel received training on the F-102 aircraft.

Additional exercises are planned during which U.S. planes will use the Comox base.

Leaders in the scheme are D. N. Roberts, W. J. Rumpel and Al Schmidt, all of Victoria, B. A. Trump, Kelowna, and George Novak of South Pender.

Work has already started. Plans call for a heated swimming pool and later extension to the lodge and the number of cottages.

A Sooke woman, still in hospital after a head-on, two-car crash that hurt three members of the family Saturday, was reported to be in good condition Tuesday.

Mrs. Samuel Fedosenko, 38, is being treated for cuts and bruises at St. Joseph's Hospital, where she was taken with her husband, 40, and 17-year-old daughter, Doreen, after the accident at Sooke and Metchoshin intersection.

The father and daughter were detained for treatment of cuts and bruises, then released Monday.

BRAKE FAILURE BLAMED IN DEATH OF TRUCK DRIVER

CAMPBELL RIVER—Brake failure on an oil truck led to the death of panel truck driver Nicholas Eftoda, a coroner's jury heard Monday.

Evidence was the failure caused the truck to sideswipe a car and swing broadside into the path of the panel truck.

The accident occurred Friday, near Big Rock, south of Campbell River.

Sawn Lumber, Ties Output in B.C. Up

OTTAWA (CP)—Production of sawn lumber and ties in British Columbia increased 12.4 per cent in the first 10 months of 1960 as compared with the same period in 1959, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics has reported.

The January-November output was 4,813,050,000 feet. During the same period production in the rest of Canada totalled 2,408,313,000 feet, down slightly from the 1959 comparison.

Fall Kills Island Man

NANAIMO (CP)—Alfred Alexander Boyd, 60, found lying on the sidewalk near his home during Saturday's heavy rain, died today in hospital.

Police said it is believed he fractured his skull when he fell.

New Bridge, Channels Urged

(Duncan Bureau)

DUNCAN — An engineering report prepared for the Cowichan Indian Affairs branch by the Prairie Farm Rehabilitation office contains recommendations that could solve most of Duncan and the Cowichan district's flood problems.

Submitted in June, 1958, the report recommends construction of one new bridge and excavation of three new channels to straighten the Cowichan River, and diversion of the Koksilah River through a new channel to Cowichan Bay.

Total estimated cost is $235,000. The report has been the subject of informal discussion and negotiation between the Indian Affairs branch and other civic, government and industrial bodies involved since it was handed down, although it is understood the IAB has had a difficult time convincing the others of its value.

NEW IMPORTANCE

Last weekend's flooding, worst in the district's history, is expected to place new importance on the report.

Recommendations contained in the report, a 17-page document, are designed primarily to prevent further erosion and flooding on Indian reserves in Cowichan and Koksilah districts.

Main work and improvements recommended by the report include:

New channel on Cowichan River above E & N Railway bridge, just southwest of Duncan. The new channel would straighten the river's approach to the bridge, continually threatened by erosion.

New channel just above confluence of Cowichan River with Somenos Creek, designed to provide Somenos Creek, which overflows annually, to its original outlet and eliminate erosion on southern channel of Cowichan.

OLD COUNTRY SOCCER STRIKE AVERTED

LONDON (AP)—England's big league soccer players and chiefs today found terms for a soccer peace—and the players called off their strike fixed for Saturday.

John Hare, minister of labor, did not explain terms of the agreement. Now English League soccer will go on as usual on Saturday.

JOBLESS TOTAL JUMPS

OTTAWA (CP)—Unemployment in Canada shot to 528,000 at mid-December, a jump of 99,000 from the mid-November total, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported today.

As 1960 drew to a close, the ranks of the jobless were 122,000 higher than at December, 1959.

The year-end figure for 1960—a postwar record for the month—represents 8.2 per cent of Canada's labor force of 6,430,000 workers. This compares with 6.5 per cent a year earlier and 7.6 per cent in December, 1958.

Employment dropped by 127,000 between November and December as winter weather reduced outdoor activity—a decline the report described as greater than average, partly because of a sharp fall of work in agriculture. Construction and manufacturing also experienced greater-than-seasonal employment declines.

HIGHER

The official unemployment figure was 61,000 higher than the previous postwar December record of 467,000, set in 1958.

Employment declined in all regions from November to December. But on a year-to-year basis, the level of employment was higher at the end of 1960 than in December, 1959, in all regions except British Columbia which remained virtually unchanged.

The number of people at work in mid-December was 77,000 higher than a year earlier, a smaller margin than that of earlier months. Most of the workers released during the month were men, while employment of women increased slightly.

In the Pacific area heavy reductions in construction, logging and sawmilling, all seasonal industries, accounted for a jump in unemployment to 63,000 at mid-December, compared with 57,000 in November and 46,000 in December, 1959. The decline was entirely in non-farm industries. Unemployment amounted to 10.9 per cent of the Pacific area's labor force. A year earlier it was 6.6 per cent.

TORONTO LAWYER CHARGES

Driving Schools 'Fleece' Pupils

TORONTO (CP)—Automobile driving students here are being fleeced of millions of dollars a year by some driving schools, a lawyer charges.

George Vano, solicitor for a group of driving schools, made the statement Tuesday before the metro council's executive committee in asking for a by-law setting their rates.

He said the practices of some schools include:

1. Selling the answers to government examinations for fees up to $50.

2. Arranging for the "right" government examiner on driving tests for as much as $100.

3. Arranging for "easier" driving tests out of town, for charges of between $10 and $20.

4. Advertising low prices to attract customers and then jacking up the price once a student gets used to a particular car.

He said sale of government examinations is "very lucrative" as many students lack the written tests.

'Remain Strong and Alert' Against Reds, Ike Tells U.S.

FATHER ACCUSED

Murder Charge Laid In Quebec Shack Fire

(Times News Services)

SWEETSBURG, Que. — The Quebec Attorney-General's Department today charged unemployed laborer Abel Vosburgh with murdering his wife and 11 of their 15 children.

Vosburgh, 63, was remanded in police custody until preliminary hearing next Tuesday.

A coroner's jury spent only nine minutes Tuesday night finding Vosburgh criminally responsible for the death of his 43-year-old wife Marjorie when fire destroyed their one-room shack at Noyan, Que., on the Quebec-Vermont border, Dec. 19.

A crowd of nearly 300 jammed the tiny courtroom at Bedford, Que., for the reopened inquest. An earlier coroner's inquiry without a jury ruled the deaths were accidental.

Vosburgh testified for 40 minutes at Tuesday's hearing. Standing arms akimbo, his back to the jury in the improvised courtroom, he answered questions by crown prosecutor Claude Noiseux in a defiant, almost belligerent tone.

He categorically denied testimony given by six earlier witnesses, including his son Irving, 18, and unhesitatingly replied, "no sir, no sir" to Noiseux's suggestions that he hit his wife and killed her during a domestic quarrel.

Insists Wife Alive After Fire Start

He insisted his wife was alive after the fire started Dec. 29 in the Vosburghs' tiny shack at Noyan, Que., 35 miles south of Montreal.

Two provincial pathologists testified Mrs. Vosburgh was dead before the fire, that unlike the children who died that night, she was not asphyxiated.

In cases of multiple violent deaths a coroner's jury needs only to find reasonable suspicion of criminal negligence in one to hold a person criminally responsible for all.

Vosburgh sat calm and impassive throughout most of the hearing, mumbling occasionally to himself. But his voice was strong and clear when he was called to explain

Inquest, Autopsy Ordered in Death

MOSSBANK, Sask. (CP)—Coroner Dr. J. M. Hourigan of Moose Jaw has ordered an autopsy and inquest into the death of Matthew Stanley Demich, 40, of Wood Mountain, Sask., who was found dead Tuesday in the office of Dr. Douglas Jamieson here.

RCMP here were told of the death of Demich early Tuesday by rancher Roy Pearson, 45, of Fir Mountain, Sask., who had accompanied Demich to Dr. Jamieson's office Monday.

When he was discovered, there was a wound near the heart in Demich's chest, Dr. Hourigan Tuesday said it could have been made in an attempt to massage the heart.

Dr. Jamieson was discovered in one of two rooms used as living quarters adjoining his office, in what was reported as "a deep sleep." He was taken to hospital where officials refuse to comment on his condition.

RCMP Const. J. D. Osborne of the Mossbank detachment today said in an interview that Demich had been complaining of a sore neck and Pearson accompanied him to Dr. Jamieson's office where treatment was continued through most of the day and evening.

He said Pearson made several trips to the hospital for equipment, which on the last trip included a mouth suction tube.

Const. Osborne says Pearson, who has returned to his Fir Mountain ranch, was given sleeping tablets by Dr. Jamieson and retired about 1 a.m.

Pearson is reported to have awakened to find Demich lying under a sheet dead in the office treatment room and Dr. Jamieson in a "deep sleep" in another room.

'No Negligence'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—No criminal negligence was involved in the Thomas Hotel fire, January 6, which took 20 lives, a coroner's jury ruled Tuesday. Ray Gorman, 61, in whose room the fire started, admitted he had been drinking just before the fire started, but he testified: "I'm on the wagon—for good."

Red China Troops Reported in Burma

BANGKOK, Thailand, (UPI)—Informants Thai sources said today that Chinese Communist troops had entered northern Burma, with the apparent consent of Burmese authorities and penetrated to within 10 miles of the Thailand border before withdrawing.

The sources said the bulk of the Red Chinese force consisting of two regiments, was believed to have returned to the Chinese side of the border after travelling 250 miles across Burma.

FOES FLEE

Rebels Advance In Laos

By ROY ESSOYAN

THA THOM, Laos (AP)—Pro-Communist rebels bore down on two key government positions in south central Laos today, and the outnumbered defenders prepared to take to the jungle for guerrilla operations.

"The Reds are coming—there is no question about it," said Maj. Phong Kave, commander of the undersized battalion at Tha Thom.

"We are reverting back to guerrilla warfare," said Col. Kham Khong at Paksane.

A reliable government source said one of the Laotian air force's four newly-delivered U.S. planes was shot down Tuesday north of Vang Vieng.

Laotian pilots have been flying the T-6—the old Marvard, trainer-fighters—after arming them with five-inch rockets and 30-calibre machine-guns. The fate of the pilot was not known.

Swarming through the jungles, two rebel columns struck out across the narrow waist of this tiny Southeast Asian Buddhist kingdom.

LITTLE AMMUNITION

The double-barrelled attack scattered government forces massing at Paksane, 90 miles northeast of Vientiane, and at this forward outpost 40 miles to the north. The rebel advance spelled doom, at least for the present, to government plans to mount an attack from Paksane and Tha Thom on the rebel-held Plain of Jars and Xieng Khouang province to the north and northeast.

The right-wing government today flew supplies to hill tribesmen in central Laos in a bid to enlist their support against the leftist forces.

An Australian journalist who flew deep into mountain territory controlled by strong leftist forces reported that right-wing emissaries are asking Mee tribesmen to combat the leftist buildup in the east-central province of Xieng Khouang. The reporter said the Mee seemed reluctant to join the fight.

Some of the tribesmen had only three or four cartridges for their rifles and were well aware of leftist strength on and around the strategic Plain of Jars.

SUMMIT TALKS ON SALMON PROPOSED

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP)—A United States-Canada fisheries summit conference to work out a program for restoring depleted west coast salmon runs was proposed today by Alaska Governor William A. Egan.

Egan invited the governors of Washington, Oregon and California, the Canadian minister of fisheries, the U.S. secretary of the interior and leading fisheries biologists of both countries to meet here Feb. 15-17.

The Alaska governor said there was an urgent need for co-ordinating efforts being made to restore the once abundant salmon runs.

B.C. Insists On Guarantee

Premier W. A. C. Bennett has notified Finance Minister Donald Fleming that a guarantee of the federal government's cost figure of 3.77 mills for Columbia downstream power at Vancouver will be required before the B.C. government can add its guarantee to any financial arrangements for the development.

The premier today made public a letter sent to Mr. Fleming over the weekend.

He also announced the finance minister had indicated he will come to Victoria for discussions at the conclusion of the budget debate in the House of Commons.

"IN WRITING"

In a press statement, the premier added: "The moment the federal government guarantees this cost figure in writing, British Columbia will proceed immediately with arrangements to build the necessary dams through the agency of the British Columbia Power Commission."

Mr. Bennett said his government is "very pleased" a treaty for the development of the Columbia river had been signed. He foresees no delay in completion of arrangements in view of the fact that federal ministers have stated repeatedly downstream benefit power can be delivered to the Vancouver area at a cost of 3.77 mills.

DOUBTS

In his letter to Mr. Fleming, however, the premier voiced his serious doubts about the federal cost figure.

He said: "... I must tell you that British Columbia entertains serious doubts that power returned from the United States as the Canadian share of downstream benefits can, in fact, be delivered to the Vancouver area at the cost

PRAYER FOR TODAY

When the kings of earth set themselves against Thee, keep Thy people from intemperance anger and grant us the will to be faithful in prayer. Grant to all who love Thee, O Lord, the spirit of humility wherein we shall faithfully repent of our own sins even as we pray earnestly that others may see and feel their need of Thee. Earnestly we pray. Amen.

Never Quit Conference Table

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower said today that the greatest problem facing President-Elect John F. Kennedy and the American people is the continued aggressiveness of communism backed by a huge H-bomb arsenal.

The president's statement was made at his farewell press conference during which he took a nostalgic look backward over eight years of turbulent history.

He said his administration had been able to block the spread of communism and he was glad for this. But he said he was saddened by the failure of the world to move forward to the point where peace and justice were really in sight.

The president, who spent 40 years as a military leader before becoming president, urged the country to remain alert, and strong but warned again that it must not let its mind become dominated by a military complex.

FAREWELL

His remarks were an elaboration of his words Tuesday night in his farewell address to the people.

He told the 305 reporters who jammed his final press conference that he was concerned when every magazine he picked up had pictures of the Titan and Atlas missiles and articles on solid rocket fuel.

He said it appears that this weapon was becoming an insidious influence on the mind and people might drift into the belief that these things constituted the main American purpose in life.

The president said these items of military might must be considered in their proper perspective—as mechanisms only to protect the basic ideals and values of the American people.

AMENDMENT

Eisenhower also advocated a constitutional amendment to allow a new chief executive to take office sooner after his election and at least 80 days before Congress meets.

He contemplates considerable travel, he emphasized, including a visit to Japan. His planned 1960 state visit to Japan was cancelled because of violent demonstrations against the new Japanese-American defence treaty.

'CERTAIN AGONY'

In his TV address Tuesday night Eisenhower urged his successor never to abandon the conference table for the "certain agony of the battlefield."

At the same time he warned the nation to be ever vigilant against allowing a military-scientific-industrial elite to exert "unwarranted influence" over the government during the struggle with Communism.

He noted that an "immense" military establishment and arms industry have grown up in the United States since the Second World War. While these are imperative to the nation's defence, he said, the country must be alert to their "grave implications" so that liberty is not destroyed in the name of security.

JOB BECKONS

Work starts Monday for Antony Armstrong-Jones, 30-year-old husband of Princess Margaret. He will hold unpaid job with Britain's Council of Industrial Design.

Lumumba Brutally Beaten, Moved to Another Prison

ELISABETHVILLE (AP)—The Katanga government today officially confirmed that deposed Congo premier Patrice Lumumba is now imprisoned in Katanga. He was brought there, said an official communique, at the request of Congolese President Kasavubu.

Officials of the government-owned Belgian air line Sabena had reported earlier that Lumumba was flown to Elisabethville, capital of Katanga, Tuesday under close guard and in handcuffs. He had been held previously at the military camp of Thysville, 80 miles southwest of Leopoldville, the Congo capital.

Elisabethville is the seat of government of one of Lumumba's arch enemies, provincial President Moise Tshombe who defied Lumumba's authority as premier and declared his province independent of the Leopoldville government.

Swedish UN troops on guard at Elisabethville airport when Lumumba arrived said he and two other prisoners with him got "a terrific beating" from Katanga police at the airport.

"It was sickening," one of the soldiers said.

Lumumba and the other two were dragged off the plane. They were trussed with ropes and tied together. They had little freedom of movement.

Then the gendarmes—African and whites—surrounded them and the Africans assaulted them over a longish period.

Lumumba and the other two fell to the ground where they were clubbed, hit in the face with rifle butts, and kicked and pummeled.

"The gendarmes let them lie for a while and then resumed their beating."

"I had to turn away," said an airport official. "It was too much for me to watch."

Lumumba and his companions groaned a lot while the assault was taking place but did not protest or ask for mercy. The deposed premier was reported severely bruised.

After the beating up, Lumumba and the other two prisoners were thrown into a jeep, pushed down to the floor and sat on by four hefty gendarmes so that they could not be seen.

MONTE ROBERTS

Mr. Louis St. Laurent, the former Prime Minister of this, the fairest nation of them all, has struck a praise-worthy blow for admirers of great men.

Mr. St. Laurent has firmly declined to write his memoirs.

Now safely and comfortably retired, Mr. St. Laurent says he is content with his memories. As far as I can figure out, he can remember all he wishes to remember without memoirs, and has no wish to force his memories on others through the medium of memoirs.

I can only hope he is setting a trend other great men will follow.

The urge which comes upon great men in their desert days to produce memoirs is something I have always deplored in secret.

Now that Mr. St. Laurent has come out against memoirs, I feel reasonably safe in proclaiming my attitude toward memoirs, loud and clear.

If a great man wishes to write his memoirs, let him make one copy only and lock that copy in a subterranean vault.

When a great man prevails upon a publisher (excuse it, when a PUBLISHER prevails on a GREAT MAN) to write his memoirs, thousands of readers are put in an impossible position.

These are the thousands of readers who are ardent admirers of the great man in question, but who have no desire to read his memoirs.

Memoirs are almost invariably about as thrilling as a letter home from boy's camp.

Yet the thousands of admirers of the great man (who do not wish to read his memoirs) are hard put to know what to answer when asked: "Have you read the great man's memoirs?"

The admirer feels he is somehow insulting the great man if he says "no," or "not yet," or even "I've set aside this weekend for that very purpose."

The admirer feels no such compunction about biographies of great men.

Biographies of great men are okie-dokie, because the admirer can say: "No, and I don't intend to, because I don't like the way the author writes."

This is no reflection on the great man, and indicates no diminishing of the admirer's admiration.

It just indicates the admirer's discriminating taste in literature.

So it is relatively simply to not read a biography of a great man. But not reading his memoirs is like passing a friend on the street without acknowledging his salutation.

May I, then, as an admirer of Mr. St. Laurent, salute him for making it so easy to not read his memoirs?

Long may he continue to not write them.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Central Junior High School PTA will sponsor a "Wagon Wheel Jambo" at the school Friday evening at 8.

Social Credit Association of Esquimalt-Saanich federal riding will hold a meeting in Lake Hill Hall, Quadra Street, Thursday at 8 p.m. Speaker will be George Hahn, member of the executive council of the national board, Social Credit League.

Saanich police union notified the police commission Tuesday that it will seek wage increases for its 25 members in 1961.

But the union requested that when an officer works overtime that he be given time-and-a-half instead of equal time.

The commission agreed to the request.

Current measles outbreak is spreading rapidly in Greater Victoria and surrounding areas with 195 new cases reported in the week ended Monday.

Sixty-four of the cases were in Victoria-Esquimalt health unit and 131 in Saanich and South Vancouver Island health unit, Dr. Elizabeth Mahaffy, city medical health officer, said Tuesday.

Ronald Havad, director of the Boys' Club of Victoria, today notified police that an unauthorized person is selling magazines in the name of the club.

"We have authorized no one to do this," Mr. Havad said. "I understand this man calls at houses collecting names of boys and offers to sell magazines for some fictitious contest we are supposed to be holding."

Twelve Central Junior High School students will get the red carpet treatment Saturday in the Empress Hotel with manager Cyril Chapman as their host.

Mr. Chapman will guide them through all sections and departments of the hotel "top to bottom" and treat them to a reception in his suite and a lunch.

The tour was arranged by Mr. Chapman for the students who showed interest in the hotel business as a vocation.

TRAFFIC FINES

In city police court today, Edwin Damien Lalonde, 1440 Bay, $20 for driving without a licence.

Omer Birkland, Ladysmith, $40, and Kenneth Knippschild, 1264 Gladstone, $40, for careless driving.

Robert L. Zimmerman, HMC Dockyard, $25 and $35, and driver's licence suspended, for two charges of violating driver's licence restrictions.

About 15 night school students will serve at their own graduation banquet Friday night.

The women are waitresses who took a special 16-session training course at Victoria school board night class to earn provincial certificates in their field.

They will wait on some 40 hotel, restaurant and night representatives at the Net Loft in a demonstration of their capabilities. Presentation of the certificates will follow.

New College Block Tours Set Tonight

Victoria College's new classroom-office block goes on public view this evening. Guided tours of the three-story building—first in the planned expansion of the campus—will start for the general public at 7:30 p.m.

The new addition to the Mount Tolmie campus was opened officially by Premier W. A. C. Bennett at a special ceremony this afternoon.

First monthly meeting this year of the directors of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce has been called for Friday noon in the Empress Hotel.

A set of 15 children's books valued at $148 was stolen from a parked car on Empress Avenue, the car owner reported to city police Tuesday.

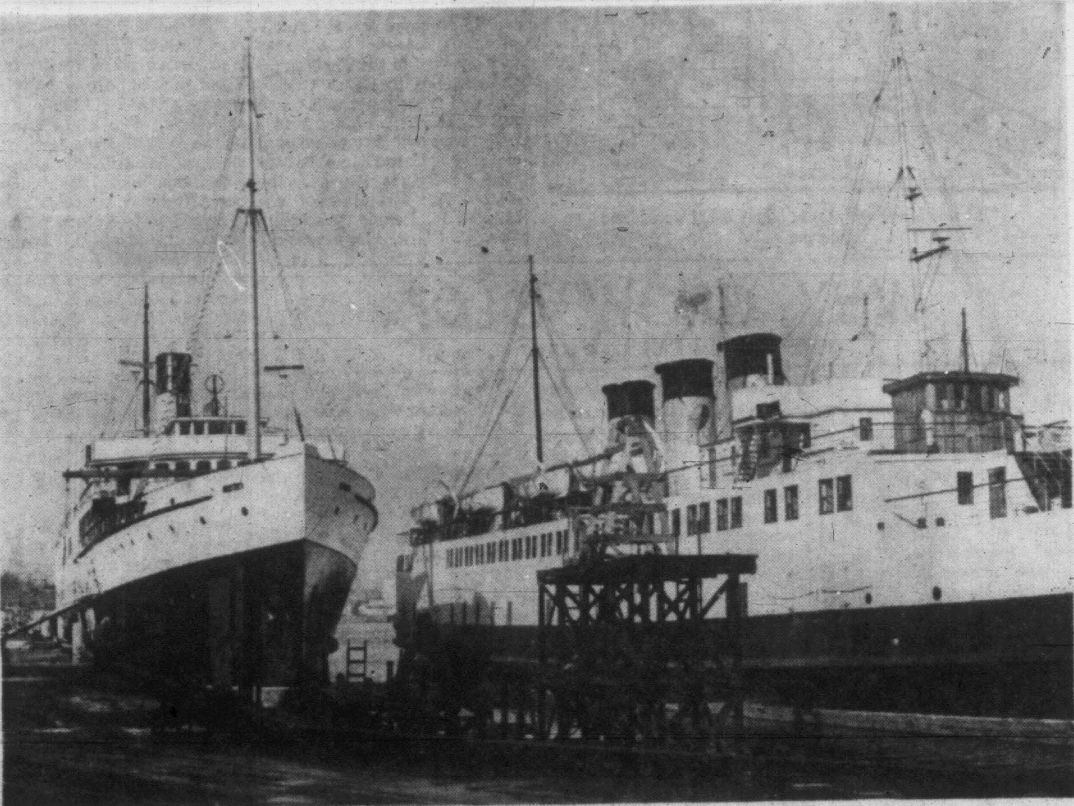

The books, property of A. A. Ferguson, 2411 Wark, were left in a car belonging to Mrs. Irene White, 1029 Empress, parked at her home.

Regular meeting of St. Andrew's and Caledonian Society will be held in Holyrood House, McBride Avenue, Thursday evening at 8.

Cubs and Scouts of the 1st Tillamook Group will be staging a bottle drive in the Tillamook Gorge area Saturday morning.

Results of Victoria Duplicate Bridge Club's teams-of-four championship tournament Tuesday were as follows:

First—Isabel Kelly, Laura Tingley, Walter Allen and Eric Horwood.
Second—Ethel Cleworth, Hilda Price, Jack Goldie and Larry McMillan.

Alaska Bound and Whither Bound?

There's work ahead for one of these two veterans of CPR's B.C. Coast Service, a questionmark for the other. Princess Louise (left), entering 40th year since being built at Burrard Dry Dock, is being readied at Belleville Street docks for another season on popular Alaska cruise service which commences May 29; more doubtful future lies ahead for Princess Elaine, Clydeside-built 33 years ago. She has been laid up indefinitely, replaced on Nanaimo service by Princess Patricia. (Times Photo by Halkett.)

Free Test For School Television

Greater Victoria's school system will have its closed-circuit television experiment after all.

School Board chairman W. C. Gelling today confirmed preparations are underway for a demonstration of the TV teaching technique in S. J. Willis Junior High School at the beginning of February.

NO COST

But it won't cost the board any money, he said.

Engineers are setting up a camera and receiver system loaned to the board by an eastern firm for the demonstration.

"We are not committed in any way by this and we have no intention of purchasing the equipment," said Mr. Gelling. "It does not involve any expense to the board so we welcome the opportunity of seeing it work for ourselves."

A year ago the board kicked up a storm of controversy when it proposed spending $19,500 to finance a pilot program—the first for B.C.—at S. J. Willis where a TV studio would have beamed selected lectures into four classrooms on the closed circuit.

VETOED

The proposal was dropped after the provincial government and Greater Victoria councils vetoed the financing.

Next month's experiment will be different in several important respects:

It will not cost anything; the demonstration will be viewed by invited community leaders and teachers instead of students; and it will only last from Feb. 1 to 3.

Closed circuit TV was originally advocated by the board, after a year of study and investigation of similar plans in the U.S., as a method of improving instruction by providing uniform lectures to pupils from top teachers in the various fields.

TWO OFFENCES, YEAR APART, COST YOUTH TOTAL OF $50

Offences committed nearly a year apart brought a total of $50 in fines today when Robert R. Stofor, 19, of 1677 Christmas, pleaded guilty to charges in city police court.

Stofor was checked by police last Feb. 26, when 17 bottles of beer and a small bottle of whisky were found in his car. He was charged with being a minor in possession of liquor and fined $20.

On Jan. 6 of this year police checked the accused again, found him with two bottles of beer and laid the second charge.

He had not appeared in court meanwhile because of an extended absence from the city, court was told.

Accused Mother To Appear Here

Mrs. Margaret Hill, 25, charged in Ucluelet RCMP court with assault causing actual bodily harm to her stepdaughter, was remanded today to Jan. 25 when she will appear before Magistrate A. I. Thomas in Victoria RCMP court.

It is expected there will be a further remand at that time. She was released on her own recognizance, with no bail asked.

The stepdaughter, three-year-old Leslie Hill, was brought to Royal Jubilee Hospital from Tofino Hospital a week ago, suffering concussion. She underwent a lengthy operation and is still in serious condition. She is unconscious most of the time.

Two Showings

For Popular Nature Films

Famed nature photographer Robert C. Hermes, travelling under the auspices of the National Audubon Society, will present a motion picture program at Oak Bay Junior High School at 8 p.m., Friday and Saturday.

His subject will be animals at home and afield. One section of the program is devoted to the sea, with penetrating camera studies of sea urchins, sea cucumbers, anemones, and, along the shore, of pelicans and terns.

Man, Wife Impaired, Fined $500

A man and wife charged with impaired driving after their cars crashed together at Government and Johnson a week ago each were fined $250 when they pleaded guilty in city police court today.

Hendry and Edna Sekkemo, of Sidney, earlier pleaded not guilty to the charges, but advised the court through counsel of a change in plea.

Police said a car driven by Hendry Sekkemo was in a rear-end collision with a car ahead that stopped suddenly in the line of traffic on Government at 1.05 a.m. The front car left the scene before police arrived.

DIDN'T KNOW

Sekkemo said he did not know who was driving the other car, which he described for police, enabling them to stop it shortly after and charge its driver — Mrs. Sekkemo — with impaired driving.

Both motorists were examined by a doctor before they were charged.

Magistrate William Ostler suspended Mrs. Sekkemo's licence and remanded Hendry Sekkemo for a probation report on the matter of suspension when the accused said he needed his car for business.

Frigates Arrive At Pearl Harbor

Three RCN Pacific Command frigates reached Pearl Harbor Tuesday, their first port of call in the course of a 3½-month training cruise for 36 cadets of HMCS Venture, the naval officer training establishment at HMC Dockyard.

HMCS Sussexvale, Beacon Hill and New Glasgow will leave Thursday for Suva, where they are due Jan. 29. They left Esquimalt Jan. 9, will return April 21.

'Sabotage' Charge Levelled

Passmore Trying to Block Orderly Progress—Murphy

Coun. Leslie Passmore of Saanich today was accused of trying to "sabotage" orderly development of the municipality's Shelbourne area.

City Hall Gets Tough With City

City Hall may be tough in enforcing building regulations but it also proved today that it is fair.

An electrical inspection recently revealed that the wiring in an old store-apartment block at 1024 Caledonia had become faulty and the usual notice condemning it and ordering re-wiring was sent out.

The unusual aspect is that the building, next to the Royal Athletic Park entrance, is owned by the city. It was taken over in 1931 and rented out because, although part of the park reserve, the building was too valuable to demolish.

The building department, which had to issue the re-wiring order under the bylaw to the land commissioner's office which is in charge of the building, also has to advise city departments on building and maintenance costs.

So, along with the official order it sent an inter-departmental note saying the job would require $250. Back came a note agreeing to the re-wiring—and requesting that the sum be put in the 1961 maintenance estimates.

Victoria 'Home' For My Coho During Summer

The Black Ball transport ferry My Coho will "adopt" Victoria as her home port this summer, lying here overnight instead of at Port Angeles as she did last year.

Reason is to schedule an early morning run from Victoria, which produced more passenger traffic last year than did the Washington port.

Summer schedule, effective June 10, again calls for four round trips daily. From Victoria: 6 and 10.15 a.m., 2.30 and 6.30 p.m. From Port Angeles: 8 a.m., 12.15 noon, 4.30 and 8.45 p.m.

THURSDAY MEETINGS

Victoria Rotary Club: Noon, Empress Hotel. Special program.

Victoria Optimists: Noon, Yarrow Building, 625 Fort Street.

Oak Bay Kiwanis: 6.15 p.m., Oak Bay Beach Hotel. Preview for 1961.

Victoria Y's Men's Club: 6.30 p.m., YMCA, Boy of the Month night.

Vic-Van-Isle Kiwanis: 6.30 p.m., Monterey Restaurant.

Rayner Coming For Launching

Vice-Admiral H. S. Rayner, former flag officer, Pacific Coast, will visit Victoria at the end of the month, his first trip here since he was appointed Chief of Naval Staff last August.

He will be accompanied by Mrs. Rayner, who will officiate at the launching of the new destroyer escort Saskatchewan at Victoria Machinery Depot Jan. 31.

Mr. and Mrs. Rayner will arrive Jan. 30.

NAVAL SHIP MOVEMENTS

Skeena, Ottawa return February 10.

Sussexvale, Beacon Hill, New Glasgow return April 21.

Margaree returns 10.30 a.m. Jan. 28.

The clash between the two councillors began Tuesday at a committee meeting which saw disagreement break out over implementation of a previously approved plan for developing the Shelbourne, Gordon Head and Cadboro Bay districts where some 5,000 residents will get sewers this year.

The zoning plan cost $5,000 and took two years to prepare. It involves reserving specific locations for commercial, park or school purposes ahead of need whenever it appears they may be sold for some other purpose.

WITH CONSENT

Coun. Passmore said he was not opposed to rezoning ahead of need only if the property owner consented to rezoning.

He also favored immediate public hearings for property owners on the locations regardless of when rezoning is contemplated.

Coun. Murphy said his opponent was attempting to confuse ratepayers and to prevent the plan's implementation.

"Coun. Passmore is fully aware that the purpose of the plan is to acquire property when there is a danger of land being used for other purposes, that is to rezone and acquire property gradually as the need arises," he said.

He said calling for immediate public hearings undoubtedly would bring some objections "because you can't expect a property owner to approve rezoning now when his land won't be needed for another 20 years; even if it is for school purposes."

AVOID MISTAKES

The plan, by determining ahead of time what the land requirements will be as the Shelbourne district fills up, is designed to eliminate mistakes of "urban sprawl."

Here's how the advance rezoning would work:

If a location set down for future park development under the plan goes up for sale council would step in and rezone it for parks so that some other development would not occur. Then the land would be bought by the municipality out of the special half-mill park fund approved by ratepayers last year.

Similar rezonings would be made ahead of schedule if it appeared necessary to head off undesirable developments. Also, the future road grid would be reserved now to ensure that a costly and meandering system of roads did not develop over a period of years.

This plan will be "shot down in flames" if Coun. Passmore's objections win the day, says Coun. Murphy.

ASK The TIMES

Q. Could you give me any information on the Trans-Atlantic Brides and Parents' Association? I believe it is a club for British girls married to Canadian servicemen. Is there a branch here in Victoria?—J.C.

A. Each YWCA has a comparable club but they go under different names. It could be the name you have belongs to one of these clubs. The counterpart at the YW here is the Empire Social Club.

Q. It seems to me the late C. D. Howe was on a ship somewhere and it was torpedoed. Is this so?—E.M.

A. Yes, he was aboard the freighter Western Prince en route to England in 1940 when the ship was torpedoed by a German U-boat. The minister of munitions and supply spent many hours in an open boat, taking his turn at the oars, until rescued by another freighter.

GUARANTEE POWER COSTS
BENNETT TELLS OTTAWASees No Delay
On Columbia

Premier W. A. C. Bennett has notified Finance Minister Donald Fleming that a guarantee of the federal government's cost figure of 3.77 mills for Columbia downstream power at Vancouver will be required before the B.C. government can add its guarantee to any financial arrangements for the development.

The premier today made public a letter sent to Mr. Fleming over the weekend. He also announced the finance minister had indicated he will come to Victoria for discussions at the conclusion of the budget debate in the House of Commons.

He said: "... I must tell you that British Columbia entertains serious doubts that power returned from the United States as the Canadian share of downstream benefits can, in fact, be delivered to the Vancouver area at the cost of 3.77 mills which has been quoted so often by your colleagues.

"For that reason, the British Columbia Energy Board has been asked to investigate this question in association with independent engineering counsel of international repute, and an interim report will be received by March 1.

"If the cost of 3.77 mills quoted so frequently by the Hon. E. D. Fulton is, in fact, accurate, then of course, no difficulty in financing the project should present itself. "Until the cost figure is verified through study by the British Columbia Energy Board, however, the government of British Columbia would of course require the guarantee of the Canadian government that the cost is firm and accurate before it would add its own guarantee to any financial arrangements for the development."

"IN WRITING" In a press statement, the premier added: "The moment the federal government guarantees this cost figure in writing, British Columbia will proceed immediately with arrangements to build the necessary dams through the agency of the British Columbia Power Commission."

Mr. Bennett said his government is "very pleased" a treaty for the development of the Columbia river had been signed. He foresees no delay in completion of arrangements in view of the fact that federal ministers have stated repeatedly downstream benefit power can be delivered to the Vancouver area at a cost of 3.77 mills.

DOUBTS In his letter to Mr. Fleming, however, the premier voiced his serious doubts about the federal cost figure.

Lumumba Beaten;
In New Prison

ELISABETHVILLE (AP)—The Katanga government today officially confirmed that deposed Congo premier Patrice Lumumba is now imprisoned in Katanga. He was brought there, said an official communiqué, at the request of Congolese President Kasavubu.

Officials of the government-owned Belgian air line Sabena had reported earlier that Lumumba was flown to Elisabethville, capital of Katanga, Tuesday under close guard and in handcuffs. He had been held previously at the military camp of Thysville, 80 miles southwest of Leopoldville, the Congo capital.

Elisabethville is the seat of government of one of Lumumba's arch enemies, provincial President Moïse Tshombe who defied Lumumba's authority as premier and declared his province independent of the Leopoldville government.

Swedish UN troops on guard at Elisabethville airport when Lumumba arrived said he and two other prisoners with him got "a terrific beating" from Katanga police at the airport. "It was sickening," one of the soldiers said.

"Lumumba and the other two were dragged off the plane. They were trussed with ropes and tied together. They had little freedom of movement."

Murder Charge Laid
In Quebec Shack Fire

(Times News Services)

SWEETSBURG, Que.—The Quebec Attorney-General's Department today charged unemployed laborer Abel Vosburgh with murdering his wife and 11 of their 15 children.

Vosburgh, 63, was remanded in police custody until preliminary hearing next Tuesday. A coroner's jury spent only nine minutes Tuesday night finding Vosburgh criminally responsible for the death of his 43-year-old wife Marjorie when fire destroyed their one-room shack at Noyan, Que., on the Quebec-Vermont border, Dec. 19.

A crowd of nearly 300 jammed the tiny courtroom at Bedford, Que., for the reopened inquest. An earlier coroner's inquiry without a jury ruled the deaths were accidental.

Vosburgh testified for 40 minutes at Tuesday's hearing. Standing arms akimbo, his back to the jury in the improvised courtroom, he answered questions by crown prosecutor Claude Noiseux in a defiant, almost belligerent tone.

He categorically denied testimony given by six earlier witnesses, including his son Irving, 18, and unhesitatingly replied "no sir, no sir" to Noiseux's suggestions that he hit his wife and killed her during a domestic quarrel.

He insisted his wife was alive after the fire started Dec. 29 in the Vosburgh's tiny shack at Noyan, Que., 35 miles south of Montreal.

Two provincial pathologists testified Mrs. Vosburgh was dead before the fire, that unlike the children who died that night, she was not asphyxiated.

In cases of multiple violent deaths a coroner's jury needs only to find reasonable suspicion of criminal negligence in one to hold a person criminally responsible for all.

Vosburgh sat calm and impassive throughout most of the hearing, mumbling occasionally to himself. But his voice was strong and clear when he was called to explain how his wife and children died.

He said he had gone to bed late that night without undressing. He was awakened about 2 a.m. and saw flames shooting up from the floor around an oil stove.

He said he called to his wife, who awoke, and then he ran to a pump 25 feet away to try to get some water, leaving the door ajar.

"My wife didn't come out but she hollered at Richard (one of the dead Vosburgh children)," he said.

Earlier five witnesses, including two of her sisters-in-law, testified that Vosburgh told them after the fire that Mrs. Vosburgh followed him

Rebels Advance
In Laos

By ROY ESSOVAN

THA THOM, Laos (AP)—Pro-Communist rebels bore down on two key government positions in south central Laos today, and the outnumbered defenders prepared to take to the jungle for guerrilla operations.

"The Reds are coming—there is no question about it," said Maj. Phong Kave, commander of the undersized battalion at Tha Thom.

"We are reverting back to guerrilla warfare," said Col. Kham Kheng at Pakxane.

A reliable government source said one of the Laotian air force's four newly-delivered U.S. planes was shot down Tuesday north of Vang Vieng front. Laotian pilots have been flying the T-6—the old Harvard trainer—fighters—after arming them with five-inch rockets and .30-calibre machine-guns. The fate of the pilot was not known.

Swarming through the jungles, two rebel columns struck out across the narrow waist of this tiny Southeast Asian Buddhist kingdom.

The double-barrelled attack scattered government forces.

IKE TELLS U.S.

'Remain Strong, Alert'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—

President Eisenhower said today that the greatest problem facing President-Elect John F. Kennedy and the American people is the continued aggressiveness of communism backed by a huge H-bomb arsenal.

The president's statement was made at his farewell press conference during which he took a nostalgic look backward over eight years of turbulent history.

He said his administration had been able to block the spread of communism and he was glad for this. But he said he was saddened by the failure of the world to move forward to the point where peace and justice were really in sight.

The president, who spent 40 years as a military leader before becoming president, urged the country to remain alert and strong—but warned again that it must not let its mind become dominated by a military complex.

FAREWELL

His remarks were an elaboration of his words Tuesday night in his farewell address to the people.

He told the 305 reporters who jammed his final press conference that he was concerned when every magazine he picked up had pictures of the Titan and Atlas missiles and articles on solid-rocket fuel.

He said it appears that this weapon was becoming an insidious influence on the mind and people might drift into the belief that these things

JOBLESS
JUMPS

OTTAWA (CP)—Unemployment in Canada shot to 528,000 at mid-December, a jump of 99,000 from the mid-November total, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported today.

As 1960 drew to a close, the ranks of the jobless were 122,000 higher than at December, 1959.

The year-end figure for 1960—a postwar record for the month—represents 8.2 per cent of Canada's labor force of 6,430,000 workers. This compares with 6.5 per cent a year earlier and 7.6 per cent in December, 1958.

Employment dropped by 127,000 between November and December as winter weather reduced outdoor activity—a decline the report described as greater than average, partly because of a sharp fall of work in agriculture. Construction and manufacturing also experienced "greater-than-seasonal employment declines."

The official unemployment figure was 61,000 higher than the previous postwar December record of 467,000, set in 1958.

Employment declined in all regions from November to December. But on a year-to-year basis, the level of em-

TORONTO LAWYER CHARGES

Driving Schools
'Fleece' Pupils

TORONTO (CP)—Automobile driving students here are being fleeced of millions of dollars a year by some driving schools, a lawyer charges.

George Vano, solicitor for a group of driving schools, made the statement Tuesday before the metro council's executive committee in asking for a by-law setting their rates.

He said the practices of some schools include:

1. Selling the answers to government examinations for fees up to $50.
2. Arranging for the "right" government examiner on driving tests for as much as $100.
3. Arranging for "easier" driving tests out of town, for charges of between $10 and $20.
4. Advertising low prices to attract customers and then jacking up the price once a student gets used to a particular car.

He said sale of government examinations is "very lucrative" as many students fail the written tests.

RCMP Const. J. D. Osborne today said in an interview that Demich had been complaining of a sore neck and Pearson accompanied him to Dr. Jamieson's office, where treatment was continued through most of the day and evening.

He said Pearson made several trips to the hospital for equipment, which on the last trip included a mouth suction tube.

Const. Osborne says Pearson, who has returned to his Fir Mountain ranch, was given sleeping tablets by Dr. Jamieson and retired about 1 a.m.

Pearson is reported to have awakened to find Demich lying under a sheet dead in the office treatment room and Dr. Jamieson in a "deep sleep" in another room.

RCMP here were told of the death of Demich early Tuesday by rancher Roy Pearson, 45, of Fir Mountain, Sask., who had accompanied Demich to Dr. Jamieson's office Monday.

When he was discovered, there was a wound near the heart in Demich's chest. Dr. Hourigan Tuesday said it could have been made in an attempt to massage the heart.

Dr. Jamieson was discovered in one of two rooms used as living quarters adjoining his office, in what was reported as "a deep sleep." He was

SUMMIT TALKS ON SALMON PROPOSED

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP)—A United States-Canada fisheries summit conference to work out a program for restoring depleted west coast salmon runs was proposed today by Alaska Governor William A. Egan.

Egan invited the governors of Washington, Oregon and California, the Canadian minister of fisheries, the U.S. secretary of the interior and leading fisheries biologists of both countries to meet here Feb. 15-17.

The Alaska governor said there was an urgent need for co-ordinating efforts being made to restore the once abundant salmon runs.

massing at Paksane, 90 miles northeast of Vientiane, and at this forward outpost 40 miles to the north. The rebel advance spelled doom, at least for the present, to government plans to mount an attack from Paksane and Tha Thom on the rebel-held Plain of Jars and Kiang Khouang province to the north and northeast.

The right-wing government today flew supplies to hill tribesmen in central Laos in a bid to enlist their support against the leftist forces.

An Australian journalist who flew deep into mountain territory controlled by strong leftist forces reported that right-wing emissaries are asking Meo tribesmen to combat the leftist buildup in the east-central province of Kiang Khouang. The reporter said the Meo seemed reluctant to join the fight.

Some of the tribesmen had only three or four cartridges for their rifles and were well aware of leftist strength on and around the strategic Plain of Jars.

employment was higher at the end of 1960 than in December, 1959, in all regions except British Columbia which remained virtually unchanged. The number of people at work in mid-December was 77,000 higher than a year earlier, a smaller margin than that of earlier months. Most of the workers released during the month were men, while employment of women increased slightly. In the Pacific area heavy reductions in construction, logging and sawmilling, all seasonal industries, accounted for a jump in unemployment to 63,000 at mid-December, compared with 57,000 in November and 46,000 in December, 1959. The decline was entirely in non-farm industries. Unemployment amounted to 10.9 per cent of the Pacific area's labor force. A year earlier it was 9.6 per cent.

FLOOD SOLUTION IN 1958 REPORT?

New Bridge, Channels Urged

(Duncan Bureau)

DUNCAN An engineering report prepared for the Cowichan Indian Affairs branch by the Prairie Farm Rehabilitation office contains recommendations that could solve most of Duncan and the Cowichan district's flood problems.

Submitted in June, 1958, the report recommends construction of one new bridge and excavation of three new channels to straighten the Cowichan River, and diversion of the Koksilah River through a new channel to Cowichan Bay.

Total estimated cost is $235,000. The report has been the subject of informal discussion and negotiation between the Indian Affairs branch and other civic, government and industrial bodies involved since it was handed down, although it is understood the IAB has had a difficult time convincing the others of its value.

NEW IMPORTANCE

Last weekend's flooding, worst in the district's history, is expected to place new importance on the report.

Recommendations contained in the report, a 17-page document, are designed primarily to prevent further erosion and flooding on Indian reserves in Cowichan and Koksilah districts. At the same time, improvements would also prevent most flooding in low-lying areas of Duncan and adjacent North Cowichan municipality.

Sawn Lumber, Ties Output in B.C. Up

OTTAWA (CP)—Production of sawn lumber and ties in British Columbia increased 12.4 per cent in the first 10 months of 1960 as compared with the same period in 1959, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics has reported.

The January-November output was 4,813,050,000 feet. During the same period production in the rest of Canada totalled 2,408,313,000 feet, down slightly from the 1959 comparison.

Fall Kills Island Man

NANAIMO (CP)—Alfred Alexander Boyd, 60, found lying on the sidewalk near his home during Saturday's heavy rain, died today in hospital. Police said it is believed he fractured his skull when he fell.

Main work and improvements recommended by the report include:

New channel on Cowichan River above E & N Railway bridge, just southwest of Duncan. The new channel would straighten the river's approach to the bridge, continually threatened by erosion.

New channel just above confluence of Cowichan River with Somenos Creek, designed to provide Somenos Creek, which overflows annually, to its original outlet and eliminate erosion on southern channel of Cowichan.

Replace bridge with structure of sufficient span and deck elevation to pass flood flows without restriction.

Isolate Koksilah River in its own channel and shorten its course by following the south side of the MB & PR logging road at Cowichan Bay for a distance of 3,300 feet. Improve a 4,000-foot stretch below the Trans-Canada Highway bridge. The Indian Affairs Branch has also made a definite offer to assume what it considers to be its financial share of the project.

constituted the main American purpose in life.

The president said these items of military might must be considered in their proper perspective—as mechanisms only to protect the basic ideals and values of the American people.

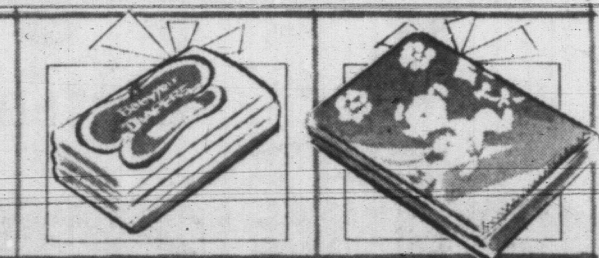

Eisenhower also advocated a constitutional amendment to allow a new chief executive to take office sooner after his election and at least 80 days before Congress meets.

He contemplates considerable travel, he emphasized, including a visit to Japan. His planned 1960 state visit to Japan was cancelled because of violent demonstrations against the new Japanese-American defence treaty.

In his TV address Tuesday night Eisenhower urged his successor never to abandon the conference table for the "certain agony of the battlefield."

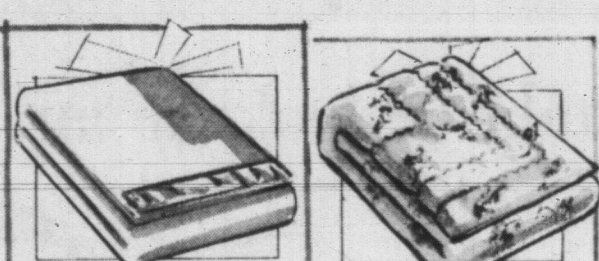

At the same time he warned the nation to be ever vigilant against allowing a military-scientific-industrial elite to exert "unwarranted influence" over the government during the struggle with Communism.

He noted that an "immense" military establishment and arms industry have grown up in the United States since the Second World War. While these are imperative to the nation's defence, he said, the country must be alert to their "grave implications" so that liberty is not destroyed in the name of security.
